THE STOCK MARKET.

A Day of Fluctuation Ends in Victory for the Bulls.

NEW YORK, Oct 18.—Governments, steady. The sensation of the day in stock circles was the "squeeze" in Jersey Central stock, which opened at 84 regular, rose to 84½ and reacted to 81¾@85. Cash transactions were 87@90. As high as 4@5 per cent. was paid for the use of stock until to-morrow with transactions at 2@3 per cent. Before the close of the delivery hour there was a reaction to 1 per cent. The bears practically cornered themselves. Within the past week stock has commanded almost any rate the lenders desired to ask. Yesterday large owners called in their stock, and the bears were compelled to go in an open market, with the result already noted.

The general market opened lower but the strength of Jersey Central had a favorable influence on the list and an advance of ½ to 2 per cent took place, the latter in Oregon Transcontinental, which sold up to 31⅞. The bears then offered stocks freely and the improvement was not only lost but many shares sold below yesterday's closing. Near midday the temper of speculation turned for the better, a large amount of stock being taken both for long and short accounts. London was also a buyer. This resulted in an advance of 1 to 5 per cent, the latter Oregon Navigation, which sold up to 117.

A GENERAL ADVANCE.

Northern Pacific rose 2⅞ to 26⅛, preferred 4⅛ to 61⅛, Oregon Improvement 4 to 70, Texas Pacific 1⅜ to 21⅛, New York Central 1⅛ to 114, Union Pacific 1⅛ to 81⅝, Canada Pacific 1¼ to 51. There were reactions at intervals of ¾ to 1½ per cent., but the market finally left off strong at or near the highest figure of the day. The success of the movement in New Jersey Central it is reported, has induced some of the largest holders of other stocks to combine for a similar purpose and the belief obtains that some stocks will shortly be singled out and forced up sharply to force the bears to cover. Some of the bears have employed Vanderbilt and Gould brokers to sell stocks, with a view of creating the impression that those operators were unloading. This fact was brought to light this afternoon and had its influence in stimulating a rally near the close. It is reported an additional £100,000 of gold has been shipped from the other side. As compared with last night's close prices are 1 to 4 per cent higher, the latter Oregon Navigation.

RAILROAD NOTES.

THE NORTHERN AND THE CENTRAL PACIFIC'S POLICY.

BOSTON, Oct 18.—[Special.]—An officer of the Union Pacific says there is no disposition on the part of Villard's roads to abandon the proposed extension to Baker City though the O. R. & N. Co will not connect with the Union Pacific on December 1 as agreed. This is due to its joining forces with the Northern Pacific to push the completion of the main line. The Oregon Railway and Navigation Company is bending its energies to the completion of the Baker City road, which will be connected with the Union Pacific next spring. As an evidence of the good faith of the Villard roads with the Union Pacific they have opened up their line to Oregon and Washington territory, via Garrison, Montana, the junction point with the Union Pacific and the Utah and Northern branch. The official says that the Northern Pacific and the Union Pacific are in accord, as against southern lines, and declares that the Union Pacific, in connection with the Central Pacific and Northern Pacific, is in a position to do the bulk of trade and, practically, to take business out of the hands of the southern lines.

ANNUAL MEETING OF PULLMAN STOCKHOLDERS.

CHICAGO, Oct 18.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Pullman Palace Company was held here to-day, 94,000 shares of stock being represented. The old board of directors and officers were re-elected. The annual report, presented by the president, George M. Pullman, showed the earnings as follows: From the operations of cars, $3,361,873; from royalties, etc., $36,144; from manufacturing profits, rentals, etc., $305,229; total, $4,683,245. Operating expenses and rentals of leased lines, $1,633,715; interest, 171,074; dividends, 9½ per cent on capital stock, $1,235,142; total, $3,039,932; surplus for the year, $1,053,313. New contracts covering 10,000 miles of railroad and renewals of old contracts covering 7000 miles, were made during the year, which necessitated the building of 121 new coaches. The stockholders were authorized to increase the capital stock at the discretion of the directors not to exceed 20 per cent. At a subsequent meeting of the board of directors the capital stock was increased 10 per cent to meet the expenses of building the cars mentioned in the report and payable December 1 next. The usual quarterly dividend of 2 per cent was declared, and an extra dividend of 11¾ per cent out of the manufacturing profits, both payable November 15.

SUIT AGAINST THE CENTRAL PACIFIC COMPROMISED.

WASHINGTON, Oct 18.—The claim of the United States against the Central Pacific Railway Company, pending for some time in the court of claims for a large amount of internal revenue taxes, has been compromised. The terms of the compromise are that the railway company shall pay the government $10,500 costs in the pending suit, and relinquish a claim against the government for $56,810, on account of interest alleged to have been unlawfully paid January 1.

THE COLORADO POOL MEETING.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18.—Passenger agents of the Colorado pool association met here this afternoon. All the roads were represented and rates fixed to the revised rate sheet to be issued next week and go into effect the 1st of November. The subject of payment of commissions was discussed. The association favored their abolishment. The meeting adjourned, to meet in Chicago the 30th inst.

THE ST. LOUIS STRIKE.

ST. LOUIS, Oct 18.—The latest information regarding the strike is that the railroad managers will not take back the strikers; that there is a fair force of men working at all the yards, that trains are moving reasonably well, and that everything will be running as usual in a day or two.

THE RAILWAY CONDUCTORS.

KANSAS CITY, Oct 18.—The railway conductors' session to-day was not especially important. Several committees reported. A proposition to change the time of the convention to September was voted down.

FOR WOMAN'S SAKE.

Proceedings of the Chicago Conference—An Able Article on the Women of Utah.

Mrs Jennie E Froiseth of Utah read a paper on "Women of Utah." She said the women of America did not begin to know the extent and terribleness of the degradation of women in that territory where polygamy held sway. Travelers in Utah might in vain ask questions as to why Mormon women were so degraded. Even in Salt Lake City, where the Mormons adopted many of the fashions and ways of the outside world, it was easy to distinguish Mormon women from all others. They seemed to carry about with them a mark like that of Cain which made it perfectly easy to tell them wherever met. The true secret of this was that it had been the policy of the Mormons to degrade woman. She was made to believe that she was inferior to man and that her only hope of heaven was to go in as a satellite of man, that she was to be man's slave, her only hope of immortality was to be married to some man that she might be raised from the dead, not because of her own worth but because she was allotted to some man. Mormons thought no more of taking additional wives than they did of buying cows. She spoke of the introduction of polygamy among the practices in the Mormon church, and the crusade against women which followed. At first women fought against being plural wives but special revelations were made for special cases, and everyone who would not accept the revelations was charged with being traitors to their faith, and their reputations were blasted and blackened, and added to this cruelty, men were commanded to beat their wives, for it was better to crucify the body than let the soul go to destruction. Women were told by Brigham Young that they could not expect the love of their husbands; it was enough to have the honor of being taken as wives. One of the chief causes which kept women in the Mormon church was they were taught to believe that in the church they were honored wives, but outside they would be looked upon as common women, and they would everywhere be treated as false women.

At the evening session Mrs J V Dearborn of Boston read a paper on "Prevention of nervous strain by home and school training," and Mrs Dr Julia Holmes read a paper prepared by the Rev Antoinette Brown Blackwell of New Jersey on "Heredity."

THE TURF.

WM. H. VANDERBILT MEETS WITH AN ACCIDENT.

NEW YORK, Oct 17.—William H. Vanderbilt nearly lost his life yesterday at Fleetwood park by his ignorance of race track rules. His wagon collided with Bonner's, throwing him out and knocking him senseless. A prominent member of the Union club discussing the accident said: "That fellow don't know any more about turf rules than a cat. He seems to think that the track was made for him, and when he gets behind a horse he bangs away for dear life and don't care who's coming. If I had anything to say I'd rule him off the track and force him to take a fifty acre lot, so he could drive to his content without interfering with gentlemen who look to the rights of others as well as their own."

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION!

One Hundredth Anniversary of the End of the Revolution.

AN IMMENSE ASSEMBLAGE IN ATTENDANCE.

Hon. Wm. M. Evarts Delivers the Oration of the Day—His Eulogy of Washington—Addresses by Bayard and Sherman.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct 17.—The weather delightful for the centennial celebration of Washington's disbanding and taking leave of his victorious army. At least 50,000 strangers are in town. A large number of vessels, including yachts, steamboats and United States war ships are riding at anchor in the bay.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct 18.—At noon scores of steamboats arrived bringing military and excursion parties. The Seventh regiment of New York with the veteran corps arrived by special trains. Owing to the late arrival of the state troops the parade was not even forming at the time appointed for the march. Trains on the North Hudson river road were delayed by the breaking down of the engine of a way train with ten crowded coaches. The Pullman phalanx is a notable body.

Governor Cleveland and staff arrived from Albany at 10:30. The train had eighteen coaches crowded with passengers. President Arthur sent a letter of regret. Conkling was also invited but could not come.

AN IMPOSING PROCESSION.

The governors and their staffs, the generals and staffs, marines and soldiers and the favorite troops of the state made an imposing display, while joined with these were visiting troops, veterans, civic societies, etc., which made a procession four miles long. It marched in five divisions. Five bands of music were in each division. The line of march was crowded with people who applauded enthusiastically. Windows and steps everywhere were filled with ladies who clapped their hands or waved handkerchiefs as the troops marched past. At a few minutes before 11 o'clock Governor Cleveland and staff, Governor Brown of Rhode Island and staff, Senator Hawley of Connecticut, and other invited dignitaries took their seats on the platform.

As the head of the procession reached the grand stand there was great enthusiasm among the people. The governors of different states, Senator Bayard, the chaplain, orator, poet and others who had a special part assigned them in the exercises, wheeled ranks to review at the stand, and the march past took place to enlivening music, after which the parade was dismissed. The people then hastened to town, in front of Washington's headquarters, where the exercises took place.

After an introductory overture by the fine band of the Seventh regiment, Mayor Ward called the assemblage to order and the chaplain offered prayer. A Te Deum of 100 verses and music by the band followed and then Senator Bayard was introduced as president of the celebration exercises. The senator delivered an eloquent address and was frequently applauded.

SENATOR BAYARD'S ADDRESS.

Senator Bayard said he certainly felt the honor of having been selected to preside over the ceremonies, and as a native of one of the original thirteen states, he accepted it in the name of Delaware, whose citizens treasured the memory of the part their ancestors bore in the struggle for independence and cherished the honest fame of their forefathers, whose fidelity and courage were well attested on the long lines of battlefields which stretched from Long Island to the Savannah river. The orator said they had assembled on this occasion drawn together by the common impulse of the brotherhood of American citizenship, not as citizens of any state, but of the United States. Reviewing the historical incidents which led to the declaration of peace, Senator Bayard said: "Who can read the history of those eight eventful years, from 1775 to 1783, even at this lapse of time, without breathless interest and agitation mingled with wonder at the result. He who can rise from its perusal without realizing a sense of absolute conviction of the presence of the hand of over-ruling Providence in human affairs must indeed be strangely and abnormally constituted, and he who fails to comprehend the true value of the virtues which marked the characters of the men of that period who were the instruments of Providence in bringing forth strength out of weakness and victory out of defeat, can know but little of the true origin of our present happy condition, of the methods by which it was attained and the conditions under which alone we can hope to preserve it."

THE CURSE OF FIAT MONEY.

The senator reverted to the fact that after the surrender of Cornwallis, under the wise recommendation of Washington, orders for furloughs had been liberally granted to officers and soldiers, to go to their homes until but a comparatively small body of men remained when peace was formally declared. "For upon those brave men," said the speaker, "had fallen the chief stress and burden of the struggle. The sufferings, exposures and perils of war had been dreadfully aggravated by want of proper supplies, and still more by a delusive system of paper money. The miseries brought by the fiction of an unredeemable paper currency were equal to all their other woes. Their starving families, their debts and their daily needs were all subjected to the curse of a depreciated and vitiated currency." He said the men who had fought to establish their country's liberties never received their stipulated pay and the promises made to them were never kept. "The army disbanded and melted away but not without angry remonstrances, not without serious threatenings, not indeed without proposed treasonable organization, which last Washington withstood with his fiery indignation, and ground to powder under his feet. Never was the weight of his personal character, with armies being led to victory, more distinctly manifested, nor its value to the country proven more importantly than in this dangerous crisis, when a crown of unchartered power and military ambition was held out to his grasp, only to be dashed to earth by love of country, which never for a moment was obscured by personal interest or ambition. If art has ever preserved in marble or on canvas a true likeness, in soul and body, of this great man, the occasion of his thus putting under his feet the solicitations of unlawful power and ambition will surely be selected." The speaker then said if we looked for the cause of the success of the united colonies of the unbattled farmers who withstood the mighty armaments of Great Britain it was due not only to valor and determination but to the common, practical virtues essential to people so weak in wealth and resources. "How high and clearly cut against the sky of history rises the column of personal character of these patriot sires," said the orator. He compared their high integrity to the venality historians have disclosed to have been the rule among English politicians, from George III down.

HON. WILLIAM M. EVARTS.

"Hail Columbia" was played by the band, after which an original poem by Wallace Bruce was read. Senator Bayard then presented the orator of the day, Hon. William M. Evarts, who received a most cordial welcome and applause.

The oration of Evarts had Washington for its inspiration. The orator began: "What measure or limit can there or should there be to the joy and pride with which a great, fortunate, prosperous and powerful people look back upon the men, actions and events which have determined their fate and made sure their happiness? Such a people should and do insist that these glories of their inheritance should never fade from the eyes of themselves or their posterity. They will mark the scenes where momentous transactions have had their birth with durable monuments. They will search out and commemorate every noble purpose and every virtuous act which have made up the collective force and secured the general triumph. They will emblazon with their admiration and their gratitude the names and deeds of illustrious actors in these great affairs, and thus by they will swell the impulse and volume of the impression of the heroic past, which they preserve and transmit to their descendants with their own homage." [Applause.] The orator then passed in review the beginning and end of the war of the revolution, the movement to raise up a patriot king at the head of a united people with Washington's refusal to accept the crown and his [illegible]. "What was there to breast this sudden flood of mutiny and rage? What to still this storm? What to stay this rising conflict between the civil and the military arm of the government? What indeed but the name, fame, power and character of Washington. With a stout decision he set aside the anonymous call for a meeting, called one himself and prescribed its course of action, its duty and its method of proceeding, and he attended and addressed it himself, mastered it by force of his reasons and earnestness, by his exposition and authority. His presence united the voice of the assembled officers, which echoed the wisdom of their illustrious leader, and suppressed the military revolt against the supremacy of civil government as swiftly as he had overthrown the scheme to subvert it.

TWO REMARKABLE PAPERS.

"On this very day, over 100 years ago, Congress issued a proclamation disbanding all the armies, and Washington from Princeton under date of November 2, 1783, put forth his farewell address to the armies of the United States. These two remarkable papers embraced their counsellings, their exhortations, their instructions, their warnings and their benedictions to the citizens and soldiers of the whole country. They were the evidence at once that the great work of independence was accomplished and that a nation was established. And now, after one hundred years of marvellous fortunes and crowded experiences, we confront the deeds and works and men of the first republic. Three wars have broken the peace he promised. The war for neutrality to complete our independence by establishing our right to be at peace, though our powers enough to draw us into their wars, the war for boundary, which pushed our limits to the Pacific and rounded our territory, the war for the constitution which established for this people that for them, and forever, liberty and union are one and inseparable. These rolling years have shown growth. Forever growth and strength are increasing. Strength and wealth and numbers are ever expanding, while intelligence, freedom, art, culture and religion have presided and enabled all material greatness.

THE WORLD BOWS AT THE SHRINE OF WASHINGTON.

"Wide as ever is our land and vast our population to-day, these are not the limits of the name, fame, power of life and character of Washington. If it could be imagined that this nation, rent by disastrous feuds and broken in its unity, should ever present the miserable spectacle of the undefiled garments of his fame being parted among his countrymen, while for the seamless vesture of his virtue they cast lots—if this unutterable shame, if this immeasurable crime should overtake the land and this people, be sure that there is no spot anywhere in the wide world and no people in it but would still rejoice at the influence of his powers and virtue. If the great statesman and orator Mr Fox, could in the British parliament exalt the character of Washington as 'that illustrious man deriving honor less from the splendor of his situation than from the dignity of his mind, before whom all borrowed greatness sinks into insignificance and all potentates of Europe became little and contemptible'; if the eloquence of Erskine could speak of him as 'the only human being for whom he felt an awful reverence'; if the philosophy of Brougham prescribed it as 'the duty of the historian and sage of all nations to let no occasion pass for commemorating this illustrious man,' then may our great statesmen and orators join in the universal tribute to the grandeur and greatness of Washington."

SENATOR EDMUNDS.

Senator Edmunds said it was war on one side for dominion regardless of justice by a rich and powerful empire, whose forces were wielded under an administration weakened by corruption, immorality and profligate expenditure, in which patriotic objects were but little regarded and gratification of passion stood in lieu of conscientious pursuit of public welfare. On the other side, with a force numerically feeble and almost wholly unsupplied with the sinews of war, a scanty band of agricultural colonists, animated by pure and lofty love of liberty, standing in defense of their birthrights, homes and firesides, sustained by religious faith in the justice of their cause and aided by the practice of honesty and frugality in the administration of their resources, emerged from an unequal contest victorious and unstained. He concluded by declaring that so long as their course was emulated the republic would stand.

The "Hallelujah Chorus" was given after the oration and Bishop Coxe pronounced the benediction. The great crowd then scattered, and the people enjoyed themselves in their own way throughout the afternoon. In the evening there was a pyrotechnic display. Salutes were fired and ships dressed. Many social reunions were also held.

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

The Day Consumed in the Usual Manner—Reports of Various Committees.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct 18.—The general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church to-day had under consideration the postponed report of the committee on prayer book which recommended the passage of a resolution proposed by Rev Dr Fulton relative to amending the constitution by striking out the words "Protestant Episcopal."

The committee on amendments to the constitution of the general theological seminary after a long debate reported adopted the following vote: Clerical 38 dioceses, ayes, 5 dioceses noes, 5 dioceses, divided vote, 31 dioceses ayes 5 noes 2.

At the afternoon session a message was received from the house of bishops, providing for formulating law and discipline in the church in such ways as to avoid uncertainties and insure just restraint in all matters of doctrine, ritual and morals.

The committee on canons also reported a resolution that a joint committee be appointed, to consist of three bishops, three clergymen and three laymen, to consider the duty of the church in relation to the whole subject of marriage, including impediments to the contract thereof, the manner of its solemnization and the conditions of its dissolution, and to report to the next general convention. Placed on the calendar.

The committee on canons reported that they had held a conference with the house of bishops on the adoption of an amendment to the canons relative to lay readers. This report, as well as another from the same committee, that they had adopted a resolution in the admission of ministers ordained by bishops not in communion with the church, was placed on the calendar.

In reference to the report of a special committee on the action of the Sewanee conference, the committee on canons reported a resolution that the board of managers of missions be requested to take the subject into immediate consideration and appropriate as large an amount as possible to the missions of the church, and to the colored people in all parts of the country, made the order of the day for Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

The house then went into committee of the whole, and proceeded to the consideration of the resolution of four of the joint committee on revision of the book of common prayer. Pending consideration of section 6, the committee rose and the house adjourned.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

FIGHT BETWEEN COLLEGIANS AND TOWN BOYS.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct 17.—A fight occurred here to-day between a party of students and a number of "snobs," as the collegians term the townmen, which apparently resulted in a draw, the students being successful in individual encounters but had to contend against superior numbers. The collegians were followed to the gates by the town boys, but the college police appeared on the scene and forced them to withdraw. Great animosity exists between the town and the college boys. This row was the first of this season. About 150 freshmen and sophomores and between 400 and 500 snobs participated in the fight. It is expected hostilities will be renewed in a few days.

Both prisoners deny the charge against them and claim the protection of the American flag. They are evidently Irish Americans and deny all knowledge of each other. Both are young men. Holmes was asked what packages were in his valise and replied that he did not know; they did not belong to him. One of the valises contained 100 pounds of dynamite of a powerful nature. Dynamite was found in the trunk and the valise of Brackett. In both valises there was a small clock, and a watchmaker says it is connected with this machinery to cause explosions. One of the weapons found on Holmes, on being discharged at one end, a wire will ignite a fuse at the other end and thus explode the dynamite with which it would be connected.

A DEFAULTER INDICTED.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct 18.—The United States grand jury has indicted Kirkland Fitch, defaulting cashier of the Warren Second National bank, for embezzling, abstracting and wilfully misapplying funds of a national bank while one of its officers and for perjury, in false swearing to the quarterly returns signed by national banks. Fitch lost in speculation about $80,000 of the bank's money and fled, but was captured and brought back last August and since then has been constructively under arrest, although permitted to live at home instead of being locked in jail. The United States marshal brought him here to-night on a writ of capias and lodged him in prison. Bail was fixed at $15,000. The lightest penalty for his offense is five years in the penitentiary.

A SCHEME THWARTED.

NEW YORK, Oct 18.—[Special.]—A scheme to defraud pool sellers was detected last night at the rooms of the Iroquois club at Coney Island. Telegraph wires and two instruments were found in a room. The object was to tap the Brooklyn wires and learn the results of the Washington races, withholding information from the pool rooms until tickets were purchased upon the names of the winners. It is reported a skillful operator was offered $750 per day.

FATAL QUARREL BETWEEN OLD MEN.

OWENSTOWN, Ky., Oct 18.—John M. Palmer, an old man, found Ben Crutchlow, aged 65, in his farm and ordered him off. Crutchlow reluctantly obeyed. As soon as he got off the field hot words ensued and Palmer shot. Crutchlow threw a stone at the same time. The latter fell dead, shot through the heart, while Palmer's skull was fractured by the stone and he will probably die.

SHORT CROPS.

Discouraging Grain Reports—A Large Percentage of the Wheat Damaged by Frost.

CHICAGO, Oct 17.—The Times' St. Paul special says: The millers and grain dealers are in a state of perturbation over well authenticated reports of great damage to wheat, caused by frost of September 30 and succeeding nights. The same authorities say that the frost fairly froze the berry and chilled the life out of the grain which had not then been cut, and which it is estimated represented over a third of the entire crop. The district thus affected extends further south than the Northern Pacific railroad. As soon as the succeeding warm days came the grain was thawed out and began to shrivel to miserable little seeds. The first general knowledge as to the extent of the damage was obtained at the elevators. The men in charge immediately received orders from headquarters to refuse such wheat until further notice. A reporter was told by a representative of the Pillsbury Hurlburt Elevator Company that the situation is alarming. He said all the elevators in that region had stopped receiving frost bitten wheat, which would amount to fully one half. Of the unmarketed crop up to the time of the frost he thought not one fourth had been gotten out of the way. That will leave one half or three fourths of the entire crop, or three-eighths of the wheat, which will amount to about four million bushels. Chemists are at work examining the infected wheat to see whether it is worth anything or not.

LA CAMAS NOTES.

FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.

LA CAMAS, W. T., Oct 17.

A chair factory is the latest talked of addition to our manufacturing enterprises.

The sawmill is now running on full time and cutting an excellent quality of lumber.

The stone quarry is turning out the handsomest blocks of gray granite ever seen on this coast.

A party of hunters captured a fine buck last Sunday and another one was killed to-day almost within the town site.

Surveys have been made and the line of a lumber flume located from the mill to the landing. The greatest difficulty now is to get carpenters.

Work on the dam in the canyon, which is to be 175 feet long and 26 feet high, is being pushed rapidly. Water will be ready for delivery at the town site by the middle of January.

Frank Ledman had a narrow escape from death a few days ago. While he was at work in an excavation for the great dam a rock weighing several hundred pounds fell so near him as to brush his face and leave some very ugly scars.

Salmon trout have come into the Washougal river and the fishermen are taking them in great numbers. Charley Davis of the Nations hotel, H. E. Butterfield, the jeweler, and George Gibbs of Portland, were out here one day this week and went away happy with a basket full. Will McCord and E. C. Wheeler of East Portland are here fishing for the market.

CALIFORNIA MANAGERS DAMN VILLARD.

A Civil Rights Suit for Damages Dismissed—Verdict of Guilty Returned in an Outrage Case—Freight Train Wrecked—Etc.

CALIFORNIA.

Short-Hand Reporters on a Strike.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 18.—For six months or more past the official short hand reporters of twelve departments of the superior court have received no pay for their services. Yesterday Mr Maginnis gave notice that he would refuse to proceed to-day, and pursuant to this warning he, when the case of John S Gray for embezzlement came up, declined to report the proceedings. For this refusal Judge Toohy adjudged him guilty of contempt, and ordered him to purge himself of the charge. In Judge Farrel's court reporter Gallagher gave notice that he would finish reporting the case he was engaged upon but would then refuse to work longer without pay. Reporter J. H. W. Riley of department one also refused to proceed, and the court had to continue several cases. This afternoon Maginnis applied to the supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus. Judge Toohy continued the Gray case until Tuesday next, pending decision by the supreme court, where the matter is now under consideration. The action of Maginnis, it is said, may also affect execution of the sentence of two murderers, Hamblin and Steve Jones, for unless the governor can be furnished with transcripts of the testimony prior to the date of the sentence the execution cannot legally occur.

California Managers Damning Villard.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 16.—Railroad managers here say that the threatened refusal of the Northern Pacific to continue the special contract system will have no effect on roads west of the Missouri river. Under the fifth section of a private agreement the Northern Pacific took a solemn obligation, as the clause reads, to maintain the present existing rates. Managers here claim that Villard will have to do so until he gives the required ninety days notice of a withdrawal from the compact. The reasons assigned for the proposed action of the Northern Pacific are that Villard wants to establish a special contract system on his own line. One manager asserts that he is doing so now in violation of the agreement entered into, and that he has proof that Villard offered special contract rates to Portland merchants immediately after the close of the conference, the contracts to run to December 31, 1884. He says he also has reason to know that Villard committed himself by a promise to give through rates on local tariffs. These matters will be considered at the meeting at Chicago. He [illegible] when another commission will be elected. Managers of California lines say that if Villard will not confine himself to the agreement he will have to fight.

A Negro's Suit Dismissed.

Judge Sawyer has on motion of Ward McAllister dismissed the case of C. A. Hughes vs. R. R. Swain. Suit was brought by plaintiff, who is a colored man, under the civil rights act to recover $500 damages for defendant refusing to serve him in his restaurant a few months ago. Motion to dismiss was made because of the recent decision of the United States supreme court in a similar case.

Verdict of Guilty Returned.

The rape case of Josselyn was submitted to the jury last night. This morning the jury found the defendant guilty. Judge Toohy said that he would pronounce judgment next Monday. The verdict as rendered added a recommendation to the mercy of the court.

WESTON DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Nearly Every Business House in the Town Consumed—Loss, $150,000.

WALLA WALLA, Oct 18.—[Special.]—Word has just reached here of a very destructive fire at the town of Weston in Umatilla county, Oregon, which occurred last night. Nearly the entire business portion of the town was laid in ashes. The fire evidently was the work of an incendiary. It broke out Wednesday at 9 P. M. in the old stable back of George Hays' saloon on Water street. A strong southwest wind was blowing, and it propelled the flames in a short time through the full length of Main street, totally destroying the west side and the other side also, except the dry goods store of Saling & Reese. It also swept down Water street, destroying all the houses there. Opposite to where it broke out was a livery stable and the brick store of Steinsker, containing the Leader office up stairs. The only other store saved was a little hardware owned by James Young. Both hotels went up at first and nothing now is left but blackened ashes. The whole affair took about one hour.

What the result will be to Weston is doubtful, as there was not half insurance. It had no engine or anything. The loss cannot be less than $150,000, as Dusenbery Bros.' large stores and warehouses, with their contents, and also Jones' new brick with the hardware contents, are a complete loss.

LIST OF THE LOSSES.

Following are the principal sufferers by the fire: George Hays, saloon keeper; St. John, barber shop; Isaac Sylvester, proprietor [illegible] John Lietel; John Besler, saloon; John Eisenour, butcher; Eisenour & Fong, saloon; Sam Doble, store; J. W. Young, three houses; Lowland & Powell, druggists; Mrs. Reynolds, millinery; Coy, druggist; the postoffice; express office and store building of E. Jones; Tom Purcell, furniture; J. Depuys, harness and saddlery; Miss Oofley, millinery; Dusenbery Bros., brick store and two warehouses; Watson, dwelling house; Fred Pauly, notions and confectionery; J. E. Saling, house and barber shop; John Stahl, store building; Wester, blacksmith; Osborn, blacksmith; Pottier Graham, blacksmith shop; Knox, wagon shop; Crawford, livery stable; Tom Berry, Blue Mountain brewery; S. A. Johns, stable; S. Y. Knox, dwelling house and offices.

Freight Train Wrecked.

BENSON, Oct 18.—As a freight train was pulling out of here to-night, at 8 o'clock, two engines and six freight cars went off the track, making a total wreck. Brakeman John S. Daily had his ankle dislocated. The engineers and the firemen jumped from their engines and escaped injury.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC AND SAN FRANCISCO BUSINESS.

San Francisco Wasp.

As matters have been shaping themselves in this city since the result of the recent overland railroad conference became known there is a speedy prospect that the Northern Pacific people will see in a vivid light the unwisdom of their agreement with the Central and Southern Pacifics. Already it is reported the Northern Pacific people have half acknowledged their blunder and are in conference with the leaders of a movement in this city, which movement, if it progresses to a favorable termination, will result in the withdrawal of the Northern Pacific from the Palace hotel agreement after due ninety days' notice. Even some days before that agreement was wholly ratified the representative of the Northern Pacific was convinced of its disadvantages to his interest and endeavored to withdraw from the conference, or at least greatly alter the terms of agreement, but was then unable to do either. Since then, however, the movement we refer to has taken this shape. The Northern Pacific has intimated its readiness to withdraw from the Palace hotel agreement provided the merchants of San Francisco guarantee that road a certain amount of through freight to this city with no conditions other than the amount on one side and the rate on the other. The merchants who have in charge the conduct of the movement in this city have made a quiet, earnest canvass, and have already had pledged to them $4,000,000 in freight per year. There is in fact a very favorable prospect that the movement will succeed, and there is every reason why it should, considered from a shipper's point of view. If it does, the merchants will have broken the grip the Central Pacific has always had on their throats, and will be able for the first time to breathe freely. If it does not, the grip will be tightened, and whether it will or not depends alone upon the merchants. We understand that the proposition of the Northern Pacific is to make one net rate for all through freight, not adopting the bewildering and thieving classification system of the Central Pacific, or making special contracts to prevent certain classes of goods being shipped by water. Under such conditions, and stipulating only for a certain amount of freight per year, as it is just bound in doing to provide against the contingency of an otherwise ruinous war by its wealthy rivals, the Northern Pacific can count upon handling a profitable portion of San Francisco's through freight. Under the conditions of the Palace hotel agreement the Northern Pacific, so far as San Francisco freight is concerned, can count only—in the vernacular of the street—upon getting left.

WASHINGTON LEGISLATURE.

COUNCIL—MORNING SESSION.

OLYMPIA, Oct 17.

Smith introduced C. B. 26 to repeal the act relating to brands. Referred.

Kerr introduced "an act to establish pilots and pilot regulations for the straits of San Juan de Fuca." Bill referred and ordered printed.

C. B. 28, introduced by Mr Burke, appropriating to each county out of the territorial treasury the sum of $1000 for the support of the common schools. A similar bill was introduced last session as a set-off on the bill for relief of the university at Seattle. It is believed that this bill is not intended for the same purpose, but it is offered in good faith, so it is hoped that it may not have any effect upon a good school law.

Collins introduced C. B. 29, relative to certain contracts for conditional sale or lease of railroad equipments and rolling stock and providing for recording the same. Ordered printed.

Caton introduced C. J. M. 8, to devise and secure means to aid the delegate to congress to obtain the passage of an enabling act for the admission of Washington territory into the Union. Adopted unanimously.

The school law was then made the special order for Thursday at 2 P. M., and the Whatcom county bill the special order for 2 P. M. on Friday.

Council then took a recess.

HOUSE—MORNING SESSION.

C. B. relating to ferries passed.

H. B. 34 introduced authorizing sales of real estate.

Burk, H. B. 14, to amend sections 2771 and 2998 of the code. Referred.

Young introduced H. B. 35, appropriating money for the care and education of deaf mutes. Referred.

Goodell introduced H. B. 36, for the creation of a district court in Chehalis county. Referred.

Young presented H. M. 6, providing for increased mail service between Seattle and Whatcom. Adopted.

H. J. R. relative to adjournment of legislative assembly on November 19, was returned from the committee recommending that it do pass.

Stitzel moved to defer consideration till November 1.

Kuhn thought that the question should be settled now so that due notice could be given of final adjournment. He believed that legislation so far had been productive of no public good. He would favor a proposition to adjourn to-day if it could be done.

Kincaid believed that no good would result from a prolonged session.

The vote stood—yeas 11, nays 9; so the resolution passed.

The remainder of the morning session was taken up in discussing H. B. 18 relating to incorporating the city of Yakima.

COUNCIL—AFTERNOON SESSION.

The bill to establish the county seat of Garfield county at Pomeroy was taken up and discussed by Caton, Edmiston and Smith, after which the bill went to a final vote resulting in its passage.

By consent Edmiston introduced C. B. 30, To submit to the electors of Garfield county the permanent location of the county seat at the next general election. Read three times under suspension of rules and passed.

A message was received from the governor stating that he had approved of C. M. 2 asking appropriation for a snag boat.

H. B. 11, To amend section 2762 of the code. Passed.

H. B. 20, to organize the county of Lincoln, was discussed, one of the amendments adopted being to strike out the name of Lincoln and call the county [illegible].

Pending further consideration the council adjourned.

HOUSE—AFTERNOON SESSION.

H. B. 18, to incorporate the city of Yakima, was placed on its final passage and passed.

H. B. 37, by Mr Goodell, to incorporate the city of Montesano, was read twice and referred.

H. B. 30, amending the code relative to the inspection and measurement of logs and the formation of lumber districts, came from the judiciary committee with the recommendation that it do pass.

Young moved to amend the bill in several particulars.

Kuhn said that the amendments were made in the interests of the monopolists. He was in favor of the men who swing the ax. He claimed in a brief and comprehensive manner that as adopted it would place them at the mercy of the wealthy millowner.

Kincaid claimed that the bill had been framed by the best legal talent. He was opposed to any amendment that would impair its vitality, and he considered that to be the object of the amendments.

Young spoke in favor of the amendments, after which a vote was taken, but received only his own vote.

Stitzel, Barlow, Brining and others asked that final action be delayed to enable them to obtain further information on the subject.

Brining said he had no objections to the law, but he wanted to ascertain its effect upon his county.

Bill was placed on its final passage. Ayes 21, noes 1 (Young); excused from voting, Messrs Brining, Clark and Coply.

C. B. 1, fixing the rates of public printing. Passed.

C. J. R. 6, to appoint a committee to recommend a plan for securing an enabling act for admission of Washington as a state. Adopted—Ayes 15, noes 8.

H. B. 1, woman suffrage. A motion to indefinitely postpone was lost.

Coply made the opening speech in favor of the bill and beautifully did the matter every justice.

Landrum thought the bill would disturb the family relation. It had too much separation for women to bring them in contact with the class of people who throng the polls. He did not think that the wives and mothers would be better for it, but worse. He did not want suffrage bestowed upon women until they wanted it.

Kincaid said that it would impose additional burdens on women. He did not think they wanted suffrage. The action was premature.

Miles made a rousing speech in favor of the bill. Now was a good time to try the experiment, if experiment it was, and if it was a failure, it could be corrected when we become a state.

Clarke wanted to hear one sound reason against the proposition. All the so called arguments were flimsy pretexts for obstructing progress.

Stitzel and Besserer followed in sound speeches in favor of the bill.

Coply again took the floor and in an exceedingly eloquent manner championed the bill. A synopsis would fail to do it justice.

The bill was placed on its final passage, with the following result:

Ayes—Besserer, Brooks, Clarke, Coply, Foster, Goodell, Howgate, Kuhn, Lloyd, Martin, Miles, Shaw, Stitzel and speaker—14.

Noes—Barlow, Brining, Kincaid, Landrum, Ping, Shoudy and Young—7.

House adjourned amid great excitement.

Seattle Chronicle: Every day large quantities of implements to be used in railroad construction are carried out by the train to the various portions of the road. Yesterday seventeen wagons, four of them new, were sent to Cedar river division, besides several cars of horses, shovels and other materials. Never before has so much activity been manifested in railroad operations on these lines, and the promise of the company to have the standard gauge road from Black river to [illegible] within forty days bids fair to be fulfilled.

On Tuesday night a horrible accident occurred near [illegible]. The residence of John Murray took fire and, owing to the prevalence of a high wind, was speedily consumed together with the contents. Mr Murray's mother, quite an aged lady, was missing after the fire, and search amid the ruins resulted in the finding of her dead body, charred almost beyond recognition and so badly burned that the arms and legs dropped off on attempting to lift them. The origin of the fire is unknown, but the presumption is that the old lady had in some way caused her own death. When found she was lying about five or six feet from her bed, and it is supposed from the position in which the body lay that she had attempted to make her escape from the flames but perished in the attempt. The sad news was telegraphed to her husband, who immediately repaired to the scene only to find the pleasant home he had so recently left devastated by the fire fiend and his home left desolate.

The Tillamook correspondent of the Yamhill Reporter says: A man by the name of A. Williams made his advent in this county about one week ago, who evidently thought he had just struck the place he was looking for. The first night he was in town he stole about $35 from different parties. The next morning, when he was going down the bay, and before starting, he called at J. W. Fernside's store, and when Mr F was called to the door Williams took from his counter a silver watch worth $25 and a pipe worth $3. He was arrested at Garibaldi and sentenced to jail for thirty days. Last night he was invited to take a walk, or rather a moonlight ramble, by about thirty or forty citizens of this county, and given about thirty lashes with a good rawhide and recommended to go to a warmer clime.

HALIFAX EXCITED BY THE ARREST OF DYNAMITERS.

HALIFAX, Oct 18.—There was considerable excitement in the city last evening, over the arrest of two men with a large quantity of dynamite in their possession. In May last information was received from Ottawa that an attempt would probably be made by the Fenians to destroy public property. Precautions were taken by the appointment of extra police, and other means. Nothing occurred, and the affair was laughed over. About a month ago Lieutenant Governor Richey got a warning from Ottawa of the departure from New York for Halifax of suspicious characters, supposed to be connected with the dynamite branch of the Fenian brotherhood. Again nothing happened. Two men giving the names of Wm. Brackett and James Holmes arrived here last Friday and put up at the Parker House. It is believed they came from the states. They gave no name to the hotel people, and paid two weeks' board in advance. Detective Power watched them, searched their rooms in their absence, and discovered dynamite, which was secured. He then found the men and arrested them.

HEREDITARY BLOOD POISON

The Hereditary Blood Poison of Scrofula develops in the delicate tissues of the brain mental weaknesses and infirmities, idiocy and insanity. It enlarges the glands of the throat, impairs the sense of smell and taste, or breaks into consuming ulcers on the neck. It destroys the lungs, or fills them with tuberculous secretions. It eats away the lining of the stomach, enlarges the liver, clogs the kidneys, creates constipation, and induces piles. The muscles it contracts and renders powerless with rheumatism, while the secretions of the joints contaminated by it cause the painful gout. It loads the perspiration with its virulent poison, setting on fire in its passage the little tubes or pores of the skin, causing the torturing disfiguration salt rheum, psoriasis, and other itching and scaly diseases which embitter life. It gathers at morbid centers into tumors, abscesses, and discharging ulcers. It slowly undermines the constitution, and is the cause of nearly all chronic diseases.

A SHAMELESS SPECTACLE.

"Dick" Gerdes, who sits in the common council as a representative of the vile drinking holes of the city, works loyally for his clientage, including himself. At the last meeting of the council he tried to smuggle through that body a bill to fix the liquor licenses on a scale that would be pleasing to the free whisky association and profitable to himself, but his scheme was detected. He had worked it into the revision of the general license ordinance but it was ruthlessly stricken out. The city charter should be so amended to make liquor sellers ineligible to seats in the common council. This traffic, unlike any other is so disreputable, so dangerous, so fruitful in crime, that the state is compelled for its own safety to make provision to restrain it and to treat it as it treats no other business. The power to restrain it in Portland the state has delegated to the city, yet two men, representing the vilest element of this traffic, sit in the common council expressly to support and protect the business which the law has banned. In every other case whatsoever men who are law makers or judges decline to vote or pass upon measures in which they have a direct personal or business interest; but there is no similar sense of propriety or decency on the part of the gin jerkers who sit in our common council. Gerdes is at all times especially eager to push legislation in his own favor, that he may make more money out of his beastly business. Nothing possibly could be more scandalous, and if he had the moral perception of the keeper of a Chinese opium joint he would pull a gunny bag over his head and hie away to concealment and obscurity.

A SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT.

Within the past two or three years, the people of northern Wasco county have been trying the somewhat bold experiment of a complete change of business. From the earliest settlement of the country, until recently, that region has been devoted almost exclusively to stock raising. As the population increased the ranges were occupied and it became necessary to sell off the cattle. Very naturally the attention of the people was directed to agriculture, which formerly had been carried on only to the extent of supplying local consumptive demands. There was serious question as to the capacity of the country for general farming, not with reference to the richness of the soil, for that was unquestioned, but it was feared that the long seasons of dry weather would be fatal to general crops. The experiment, however, has been tried and the result is highly satisfactory. Crops last year were fair, and this year more than fair. Wheat, which was quite generally grown, is a splendid crop. The yield is reported to average from twenty two to twenty six bushels to the acre. Many fields, particularly well cultivated, yielded thirty bushels or more to the acre, and others where farming methods were poor, did not produce more than fifteen bushels, but the average was fully up to expectations. It is demonstrated beyond question that the country will raise grain, and that it will raise other farm produce goes with this without saying.

Now that the people of northern Wasco are beginning farming as a general rather than as an incidental business, we hope to see them go at it in the right way. Before they bend all their efforts to wheat growing, we should be glad to see them compare the profits to be expected from it with those which might reward a more varied farming. We believe that careful examination will show them that there is more and far surer profit in vegetables and fruit than in grain. The spring season of northern Wasco county is more than a month earlier than that of the Willamette valley, and its "truck" products could always have the first and highest sales in the market of Portland. The country is splendidly adapted for this kind of farming, and with it the drouths which must be expected occasionally will interfere less than with wheat as an exclusive crop. Besides, vegetable and fruit crops do not drain and impoverish the soil as does grain growing. Northern Wasco is the most favored region of this much favored state for fruit production. It lacks some of the minor advantages of southern Oregon, but this is more than compensated by its situation next-door to the Portland market. Apples, cherries, pears, peaches and small fruits mature very early there, and their form and flavor is unsurpassed. Wasco county ought to command the Portland market for early products, and we believe it will do it.

IT DOES MOVE.

People who are inclined to take a gloomy view of the present state of society are apt to compare the present condition of things with that of the last generation very much to the disadvantage of the latter. Yet if such persons wish to convince themselves of the fact that the country has improved in its observance of order, and that the public exhibits less blind prejudice and subservience to popular opinion than it did forty years ago, they should read the recently republished accounts of the riots in New York city, upon the formation of the first anti-slavery society in the country. The meeting which provoked this public storm was less important in size and apparent influence than many which are held daily without attracting public notice. Its utterances contained no more than would now be considered the utmost commonplaces of freedom and justice. Yet it provoked the most violent denunciations from all the leading newspapers of New York. Garrison was declared to be not only a pestilent firebrand but a slanderer of his country, having traduced what was called its peculiar institution. A mob assembled which included many persons of prominence at the time, and from the evidence of its passions, it is plain that the abolitionists only escaped violence by changing the place of their meeting and by making a prompt completion of their business and an early adjournment. The work of the abolitionists has since risen to be one of the most honorable records of the national history. It is done now, and most of the men who were concerned in that meeting have finished their course upon earth. But to turn back to that remarkable attempt to choke down free discussion and to band the forces of prejudice and ignorance shows that the nation has made a wonderful progress in fairness and intelligence since then. Whatever subservience to popular prejudices there may now be, it would be impossible to deny the advocates of any cause the right to meet and consult whenever they choose.

We regret that Washington territory is not fairly represented at the Mechanics' fair. In the products department there is nothing or next to nothing from north of the Columbia river. But the fault is due to the people of Washington. The invitation to make exhibits was general and urgent. We hope that it will not be neglected another year. Southern Oregon, too, does not figure in the displays as she ought. A collection of her products with an exposition of her industries would have been a wide advertisement for her as well as an interesting feature of the fair.

A taxpayer sends in a complaint that he has been required to pay city tax twice this year on the same property. He says he paid in March $114 75, and again this month he was called on for $122 50. He thinks he is swindled, and he wants THE OREGONIAN to tell taxpayers to look up their receipts. This taxpayer is a well known citizen; and if he has been called on to pay tax twice within the year on the same property he ought to have no difficulty in getting the matter set right. The probability is that a mistake has been made.

The city of Cleveland threw 14,954 votes for the prohibition amendment, and 26,569 against it.

WASHINGTON.

After eight years of oratory, poetry and histories we have reached the end of the centennial anniversaries in the great drama of our nation's birth. The closing scenes enacted at Newburgh were celebrated yesterday. In some respects it is fortunate that the last celebration should have been the one in which Washington was the central figure, that the last reflections upon our revolutionary history should center upon him. He was not present at the battles of Lexington, Concord, Bunker Hill and Bennington, which were celebrated with so much ceremony six and eight years ago, and at the Yorktown centennial our French and German allies enjoyed a monopoly of honors. The significance of the Newburgh centennial is enhanced by the fact that events have occurred during the present generation which have drawn attention to other heroes. At the reunion of the "Army of Tennessee" held at Cleveland the day before the Newburgh anniversary, Governor Foster said that "in later generations the heroes of the war of the rebellion would be held in higher esteem and greater veneration than the fathers of the revolution." It is not surprising that such an opinion should be entertained and expressed. It is doubtless widely prevalent. The difference in the magnitude of the two wars is of itself sufficient to cause many superficial observers to magnify the services of the leaders in our late war at the cost of the reputation of the leaders of the revolution. We do not object to this estimate of the comparative merits of the two classes of heroes, except so far as it applies to Washington. We insist that he is still entitled to the distinction, so aptly expressed by General Lee in announcing his death in congress, of being "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen," and still more do we insist that it is of infinite importance almost that he should retain that place. In a critical review of Washington's life, Lord Brougham made the striking remark that the test of the progress of mankind will be their appreciation of his character. We are influenced by our ideals. We range ourselves according to our choice of heroes. We show what kind of men we are by the objects of our veneration and esteem. There could be no more profitable reflections at the close of our centennial anniversaries than those which would attend the application of the test to ourselves of our appreciation of Washington. Is his character our ideal or have we adopted a different ideal? Whom do we most admire, Washington, Grant or Butler? The answer to that question tells what kind of people we are or are becoming.

We do not purpose to institute a comparison between these three men, who represent so prominently types of character under which all of our people might be included. The limits of such an article as this would not admit of it. We only wish in a general way to direct attention to some peculiar features of Washington's character, particularly such as were exemplified at Newburgh in the scenes which we have already described. "Washington refused a crown." That refusal was a dramatic exhibition of his character. He did not shrink from the exercise of supreme control, but rather he avoided it when the necessity of the country demanded it. In the remarkable retreat through New Jersey in 1776 with the enemy pressing on his rear, his little handful of men every day decreasing and the loss of Philadelphia—"an event," he said, "which will wound the heart of every virtuous American"—rising as a spectre in his path, Washington moved on, gathering all the energies of his character to parry this deep disgrace until he felt that the time had come when all the military authority and power which the continental union of America held in trust for the liberties of the country should be given to him, and then he wrote to the president of congress asking for extraordinary powers, but displaying at the same time all the modesty and high principle of his character. In responding to his appeal congress felicitated the country upon the fact "that the general of their forces can safely be intrusted with the most unlimited power, and neither their personal security, liberty nor property be in the least degree endangered thereby." The powers thus conferred upon Washington were those of a military dictatorship. In accepting them he said: "Instead of thinking myself freed from all civil obligations, I shall constantly bear in mind that, as the sword was the last resort for the preservation of our liberties, so it ought to be the first thing laid aside when those liberties are firmly established." For eight years he conducted the war under every possible disadvantage, with a congress to support him which had none of the attributes of an efficient government, no power of taxation, nor right to compel the obedience of an individual, destitute of the materiel of war and without means for procuring it, and with the second place in command of the army held for a considerable time by a turbulent and empty braggart trying by exciting his disgust to force him to resign, and with a formidable movement at one time made to have him superseded. During all these embarrassments there is no evidence that the serenity of his character was marred by a single burst of passion, much less of profanity. The floating traditions which make him guilty of uncontrollable bursts of temper shrink into the narrowest dimensions under the sifting of historical criticism. His patience was never exhausted, although he was sometimes "wearied almost to death with the retrograde motion of things," realizing the danger that he might "after all lose his character," because those who employed him would "not make proper allowances for the difficulties their own errors occasioned." The pressure upon his spirits was not relieved, as Lincoln's was, by a happy faculty of wit and story. His only epigram that we now recall was in a letter to Henry Lee in congress, in reference to disorders in Massachusetts after he became president, that "influence is not government." He, doubtless, had more humor than has been generally attributed to him. Mr. Sparks has preserved one anecdote that shows that he was not destitute of it, but that also pertains to events following the war. In the convention for forming the constitution, some member proposed to insert a clause limiting the army to 5000 men. General Washington, who was in the chair, observed that he should not object to such a clause if it were so amended as to provide that no enemy should ever presume to invade the United States with more than 3000.

It is impossible to describe his part in the war without relating its entire history. That he was an accomplished soldier, of matchless skill is shown by his record in two wars. He was regarded on the continent of Europe as a great military hero when he retired from the war with France to his serene Mount [illegible]. He was eminently cautious in his conduct of campaigns, but he was also eminently sagacious. He never lost his poise as almost all the great generals of our late war, except General George H. Thomas, did in the midst or on the eve of battles costing the army the needless loss of thousands of men.

But it is not by our appreciation of his military greatness that we shall test our own characters. It is rather by the quality and degree of his patriotism. Webster says that the most striking thing ever said of Washington was the remark of Fisher Ames that "he changed mankind's ideas of political greatness." He served his country in the army for nine long years without tasting the happiness of home, asking no recompense and seeking no object but her welfare. At the close of the war he retired to Mount Vernon "to glide," as he said, with Mrs. Washington, "gently down a stream which no human power can ascend." He left this serene abode again with great reluctance to prevent his absence from being construed into "a dereliction of republicanism" to preside over the convention which framed the constitution, where his profound civil wisdom, his knowledge of our civil wants and his influence over the moral sense of the country were so beneficently exerted. It was the knowledge that he was to be the first president to administer its powers that largely influenced the states to accept the constitution. In all the trying circumstances of peace and of war he never despaired of republican liberty. He trusted to the reflecting good sense of the nation for approbation and support and "had the magnanimity to pursue its real interests in opposition to temporary prejudices." In his view the patriot and the demagogue were natural antipodes. During the long period of his public life the cause of republican liberty was embodied in him, and in his hold upon the hearts of the people. So long as he retains that hold our liberties are safe. In order to strengthen and perpetuate that hold we should make his character as Webster did "the most cherished contemplation of our lives." In the address of Lord Brougham, to which reference has been made, after speaking of Napoleon and Wellington the distinguished chancellor said:

"But in Washington we may contemplate every excellence, military and civil, applied to the service of his country and mankind—a triumphant warrior unshaken in confidence when the most sanguine had a right to despair; a successful ruler in all the difficulties of a course wholly untried—directing the formation of a new government for a great people, the first time so vast an experiment had ever been tried by man; voluntarily and unostentatiously retiring from supreme power with the veneration of all parties, of all nations, of all mankind, that the rights of men may be conserved, and that his example might never be appealed to by vulgar tyrants. It will be the duty of the historian and the sage in all ages to omit no occasion of commemorating this illustrious man, and until time shall be no more will a test of the progress which our race has made in wisdom and in virtue be derived from the veneration paid to the immortal name of Washington."

CRITICISM EMPHASIZED.

If evidence were needed to enforce the criticism of this journal upon our lack of industrial enterprise it is afforded by the exhibit of Oregon dairy and orchard products at the Mechanics fair. The capacity of the country to produce many things which we import, is illustrated by a display of fruits, vegetables, cheese and butter which could not be excelled by any other state. Indeed, few states could equal it either in quality or variety. But looking upon butter that is gilt edged and gilt all the way through we are reminded that we import tons of butter every year, looking upon cheese equal to the best product of any country in the world, we are reminded that we import more than we manufacture, looking upon splendid apples, we are reminded that two-thirds of the dried apples sold in our local market are brought from California or the east, looking upon the most luscious prunes, we are reminded that we import dried prunes from beyond the ocean and across the continent, looking upon the finest vegetables we are reminded that the Portland vegetable market is largely supplied from California—and so on through half the exhibit we are reminded of what we might do, and of what to our discredit, we do not do. There is a lesson of reproach to the country in the very excellence of the exposition. It cannot be that opportunities promising sure and heavy profits will long remain waiting for enterprise. The exhibition will surely spur the farmers of the country to new effort and attract a class of settlers now very seriously needed.

A bill for "an act to establish pilots and pilot regulations for the straits of Juan de Fuca" has been introduced in the Washington legislature. It seems quite singular that the former law on this subject should have been repealed. This was done two years ago. Good pilotage is necessary to expedite commerce in those waters and contribute to the safety of vessels navigating there. Though that waterway is in every respect one of the very best in the world yet the great rise and fall of the tides, strong currents that shift with tidal changes, shoals that must be avoided and occasional periods when navigation is impeded by smoke or fogs combine to make an efficient pilot system desirable there, and this doubtless gives rise to the present proposition to repair the mistake of two years ago.

Mr. Sims, second vice president of the Northern Pacific, is authority for the statement that the whole expense of the great excursion, including entertainment of guests before and after it, were less than $250 000.

BARGAINS IN REAL ESTATE IN ALBINA and vicinity. Lots from $100 upward. HILL & COLEMAN, [illegible] Block, Russell st. Albina.

MULTNOMAH, THE MOST BEAUTIFUL AND accessible suburban property in the market, is situated on a plateau, naturally drained, cleared and nearly all in grass, commanding a view of Portland, East Portland, Albina, the Willamette river and all the improvements made and to be made by the Northern Pacific Terminal Company, has just been laid out into lots [illegible], streets 60 and alleys 16 feet. This property is part of the Thompson donation claim, on which are located all of the improvements made and to be made by the Terminal Company on the east side, and adjoins on the south the Proebstel claim, on which is the most valuable property in Albina. Multnomah is situated about half a mile north from Albina ferry, 300 feet from N. P. Terminal Company's east line, 1500 feet from machine shops and car works, 600 feet east from O. R. & N. Co's railway track, 2000 feet from Willamette river, O. R. & N. Co's depot, warehouse, elevator and N. P. R. R. proposed bridge. To encourage and aid the Multnomah Railway Company to construct its railway from Front and Morrison streets along the route and during the life of its franchise—via Albina ferry to the center of the tract—lots for a limited period are offered at very low prices, ranging from $100 to $400. Terms of sale: One-fourth or more cash, balance quarter yearly. By agreement a time of purchase payments may be made in ten or less monthly instalments. Interest on deferred payments [illegible] percent [illegible] off for all cash. Apply in person or by letter to the undersigned at 155 First st., corner Morrison. JNO. B. WHEAT.

SEATTLE.

On the western shore of Lake Washington, and within easy reach of the heart of the city, we have a number of Blocks and Lots of land which can be bought at a low price for cash or will be exchanged for property in Portland or near the city.

This property is likely to increase in value largely, keeping pace with the growth of the Queen City of the Sound.

HOMES, HOMES, HOMES!

For Sale, Lots, Blocks and small tracts, by the Southern Portland Association in their Addition on the Macadam road. Terms easy—payable in installments to suit purchasers. IRA B. STURGES, Secretary Southern Portland Association, Room 1, No. 48 First street.

[illegible] STATEMENT.

Referring to the advertisement of the Portland Water Company in THE OREGONIAN and STANDARD giving results of the analyses made by Chemist J. C. Hill, M. D., of the Willamette river water and the water of Stephens springs, with which it is proposed by the Crystal Springs Water Company to supply the city of Portland, East Portland and Albina, it might be well for an interested public to know that the analysis was made of the Willamette river water "at the time of the height of the summer rise." (See printed report of Joint Committee of Councilmen and Citizens to Common Council, Sept. 24, 1872, page 4, line [illegible]) And the committee very properly and truthfully add: "It is quite [illegible] later in the season it would [illegible]." Every resident of Portland will know that the snow water which fills the Willamette at the season referred to, and the water after the rise are entirely different. Also eleven years ago the present sewering of Portland and the numerous contaminating influences along the shores of the Willamette, especially such as were referred to in a late issue of the News, did not then exist. So the good citizens of Portland will not be deceived into the belief that they are now getting even as pure water as they did eleven years ago.

WHAT IS IT?

CANDLE FISH, or OOLACHAN is a species of fish similar to smelt. It has a rich, delicious flavor, and all who try it pronounce it superior to the sardine. It is smoked and augured and packed in hermetically sealed cans. Although a novelty, it has met with large sales. All who have not tasted Candle Fish should do so at once.

CITY.

IMPROVING SWAN ISLAND CHANNEL.—Captain Charles F. Powell, U. S. engineer, desires it known that the new cut at Swan Island, east of the island, is now open for passage (triple) beacon, is now open for passage. The course on the best water is [illegible] the bridge piers to clear the [illegible] side of the bridge, leaving it to the west, thence parallel, leaving it to the west, thence parallel with the Albina wharf line until abreast of the [illegible] beacon; thence on range of [illegible] beacon. The Osgood dredge is now at the bottom. [illegible] and widening the upper entrance to the [illegible] are requested to pass to the west of it, as there is plenty of water on that side. The dredge, digging to twenty-one [illegible] of the gauge, has worked from the foot of last spring down stream to the eighteen-foot curve with the lower slope of the bar. Before there is a shoal place through which the [illegible] digging to eighteen feet at zero of the gauge, working up stream. It is expected that the government cut, and then go over [illegible] cutting a swath of three feet. It is very [illegible] to make the cut at the head of the bar [illegible] during. This the government dredge is [illegible] but the near exhaustion of the appropriation [illegible] will prevent a complete job. An additional [illegible] work is required. The new cut has been [illegible] from the lines of preceding [illegible] should fill up as usual. Captain Powell [illegible] dredging at Swan Island had better [illegible].

[illegible] BY AN EXPLOSION.—A hack team, belonging to T. Fitzgibbon, ran away down First [illegible] evening, and at the corner of First and [illegible] jumped on the sidewalk, the pole of the carriage [illegible] the glass box on the lamp post in front of the [illegible] hotel, knocking a hole in it, [illegible] of the post at the ground and smashing [illegible] The horses were but slightly [illegible] the front part of the carriage was badly [illegible] The gas pipe, supplying the lamp, being [illegible] the gas escaped at a rapid rate, causing a [illegible] A policeman, wishing to stop [illegible] lighted a match to find the broken [illegible] gas, as the escaped gas [illegible] formed an explosive [illegible] went off with a noise louder than [illegible] blowing up the sidewalk for some distance [illegible] breaking some of the planks in [illegible] the people standing thereon several [illegible] of "setters" who were occupying [illegible] in front of the Occidental, vacated them [illegible] and there was about the worst scared [illegible] that corner that has been seen since [illegible] Fortunately no one was seriously [illegible] but there will be a new lamp post and lamp [illegible] sidewalk lumber for someone to pay for.

[illegible] ENCROACHMENT BY CHINESE.—The Chinese [illegible] are bound to have Second street for [illegible] They have lately leased the property at [illegible] corner of Second and Taylor, which [illegible] residing at Spokane Falls. A portion [illegible] fifty feet on Second street and sixty [illegible] has been leased for fifteen years at [illegible] The remainder of the lot, fronting [illegible] is rented for $75 per month. They now [illegible] of the whole west side of the block between [illegible] and Yamhill. The action of L. Maggoon [illegible] the quarter block at the northeast corner of Taylor and Second to Chinese has received [illegible] comment from some persons, but when [illegible] that he ousted Chinese from a quarter [illegible] and Madison and has erected a fine [illegible] while the former occupants of the [illegible] have been sent to the street which is to all [illegible] over to them, it is difficult to see [illegible] be blamed, especially as he is [illegible] by the transaction.

[illegible] FRONT.—John Rottner, proprietor of [illegible] or beer saloons, and a strong [illegible] of free license, walked into the office at the [illegible] yesterday afternoon to request that the [illegible] better order on the streets at night near [illegible] of business. He had no sooner set his [illegible] the door than an officer remarked: "I believe there is a warrant here for your arrest, Mr. [illegible]" and before the crestfallen whisky seller [illegible] from his surprise the necessary papers [illegible] on him. "But I took out a license yesterday," pleaded Rottner. "Yes," was the reply, "but only for one of your places, however." "[illegible], you don't mean to make me get one for [illegible] little place," continued Rottner. "Why [illegible] sold a keg of beer there in all this month." [illegible] the officers of the law were inexorable [illegible] bonds for his appearance in the [illegible] to-day.

[illegible]—Councilman Scoggin, E. J. Jeffery and L. S. King went up to Government island a [illegible] to hunt ducks. They met with fair [illegible] killing fifty birds, some snipe. A mishap, [illegible] occurred, which spoiled the pleasure of [illegible] Jeff's gun was out of order at the breech [illegible] putting up a snipe, when his dog, [illegible] and an old and valued friend, [illegible] short distance ahead of him. Jeff stepped [illegible] and the sudden jar brought down the [illegible] gun, discharging both barrels, the [illegible] striking his dog in the head, killing [illegible] Jeff was very sorry for killing his [illegible] the thought of what would have been the [illegible] either of his companions happened to [illegible] in front broke him all up, and he had [illegible] heart for hunting during the trip.

[illegible] WORLD'S MAP.—THE OREGONIAN has [illegible] from McKercher & Thompson a copy of [illegible] historical map of the world. It is three [illegible] by five feet, and printed on both sides. [illegible] map shows accurately both hemispheres [illegible] with interesting illustrations of [illegible] native animals, architecture, etc., [illegible] principal foreign countries, as well as valuable [illegible] On the opposite side is a well executed [illegible] map of the United States, accompanied [illegible] tables, and other important information. Altogether it is one of the most valuable [illegible] published; equally useful to school and [illegible] and it is no small adjunct to the ready reference [illegible] of our telegraph editor.

[illegible] ROAD.—Supervising Engineer Thielsen [illegible] Wednesday evening from a tour of the [illegible] line between Tacoma and Seattle. [illegible] the line between the Puyallup branch of the Northern Pacific and the Renton coal road (narrow gauge), completed, though thirteen miles remain to be ballasted. The line intersects the coal [illegible] miles east of Seattle, and these ten miles [illegible] change, to standard gauge. Traffic between [illegible] and Seattle is so heavy that the [illegible] day and night with coal trains, and [illegible] making the change to standard gauge on [illegible] account is necessarily slow. It is expected, [illegible] that the line will be in operation by the [illegible].

[illegible] ABOUT THE BRIDGE.—In conversation [illegible] an Oregonian reporter yesterday, a gentleman [illegible] informed in railroad matters said he did not believe [illegible] the stoppage of the work on the Willamette [illegible] was remotely connected with the depression [illegible] of Villard et als, and that it was at worst only [illegible]. A force is still engaged in getting out [illegible] the structure, and he believed the suspension [illegible] of work was ordered to await the decision of [illegible] Deady in the injunction suit brought by [illegible]. This bridge was as much a necessity as [illegible] or the Missouri river bridges, and would [illegible] be built.

[illegible] PERSIMMONS.—The first Japanese persimmons [illegible] ever grown in Oregon were plucked, [illegible] by H. W. Prettyman of East Portland, [illegible] has attracted much attention since its introduction on this coast, several years since. Mr. [illegible] says it is a fine fruit, and will prove a [illegible] addition to the products of this state. The [illegible] raised by him are about two inches in diameter and are very handsome. They will probably [illegible] on exhibition at the pavilion.

[illegible] BOOTS.—People who read in yesterday's [illegible] that Ed. Price was arrested with a pair of "[illegible] hide" boots in his possession, which [illegible] been stolen, may be interested in [illegible] that the reporter wrote "porpoise hide" [illegible] of the former. Twenty-five dollars would [illegible] pay for the time and trouble experienced in [illegible] a pair of boots out of the hide of a [illegible]. Price was tried in the police court [illegible] to jail for fifteen days.

[illegible] OF DRUNKARDS.—It has been suggested [illegible] mode of procedure be taken regarding [illegible] drunkards as old Dan Owens, Jo. [illegible] Kelly, the Scout, and one or two others, who [illegible] of their time in the city jail. Put [illegible] by themselves, give them all the [illegible] they can lay to and await the dissolution [illegible] to follow. There is not the least doubt [illegible] would bet that they would die happy [illegible].

[illegible] TO ACCOUNT.—T. M. Dushane, charged [illegible] Robert May with bodily injury, [illegible] in Justice Keegan's court yesterday. The [illegible] made some time early in last August, [illegible] is a considerably larger man than Dushane [illegible] evidence of any kind against the latter was [illegible] the trial was brief. Counselor Campbell [illegible] piece could—conducted the [illegible] and succeeded in securing the acquittal of [illegible].

[illegible] INVESTIGATION.—The special committee [illegible] by the common council, consisting of [illegible] Chittenden and Haley, who will investigate the Dexter-Chapman infamy, meet for the [illegible] to-night in the council chamber. They [illegible] sending out subpenas and will employ a [illegible] to take verbatim the testimony of all [illegible] The investigation will be public throughout, [illegible] large audiences are expected.

[illegible] LOTS SOLD.—The irregular-shaped lot at [illegible] northeast corner of North First and A streets has [illegible] sold by S. G. Reed to J. Fred Clarke in trust for [illegible] unknown party. The tract is nearly 100 feet [illegible] and includes a half interest in the wall of the [illegible] occupied by White, Goldsmith & Co. The [illegible] to be paid is $60,000. A certain amount has [illegible] paid, which will be forfeited unless the balance [illegible] by the 15th of January.

[illegible] FANCY FAIR.—The Catholic ladies of Portland [illegible] making elaborate preparations for a fancy [illegible] to come off some time next month, in aid of the [illegible] church of St. Lawrence. The energetic ladies [illegible] already secured a large assortment of handsome [illegible] and valuable articles for that occasion, and the [illegible] promises to be a brilliant affair and a grand success.

[illegible] DUE TO-NIGHT.—The following westbound [illegible] passengers passed Missoula yesterday, to arrive [illegible] to-night: L. Ladadt, E. Budhey and family, [illegible] and wife; R. Hodges and wife, O. P. [illegible] McMillan, W. H. Buck, E. J. Gillisen, [illegible] and wife, J. D. King and Hon. J. D. Mc-[illegible].

INTERIOR MERCHANT IN TROUBLE.—A complaint was filed in Justice Greene's court yesterday by M. Hausen, charging Fred Kittner, a merchant of Dayton W. T., with obtaining from Albert Man & Co., and Watson, Wright & Co., goods to the value of $2700 under false representations. Mr. Kittner was arrested at the store of Watson, Wright & Co., and was held by Justice Greene in $3000 bail for his appearance for examination at 2 P. M. to-day. In default he was sent to jail. Mr. Kittner's lawyer stated that his client would be able to furnish bail as soon as he could communicate with his friends, but declined to give any explanation of the affair. There appears to be some mystery about the matter, as Mr. Watson also declined to give any information as to the nature of the alleged "false representations." The community will have to hold its breath till 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the veil which enshrouds this mystery will be yanked aside if the matter is not fixed up in the meantime.

SLIGHT FIRE.—The alarm turned in about 4:30 yesterday afternoon was caused by a fire in the upper part of a little house on Stark street, just at the rear of the United Carriage Company's stables, occupied by On Sing, a Chinese washman. It was probably caused by some one smoking opium. The smoke which poured out smelled horribly. The engines were quickly at work, and the upper part of that building received a more thorough cleansing than it has known for years. The damage was slight.

JACKSON COUNTY GRAPES.—A number of clusters of grapes, from a box sent to E. J. Lewis of this city by C. C. Beekman and W. M. Turner of Jacksonville, were left at this office yesterday. They were the most delicious grapes imaginable, thin-skinned, juicy and fine flavored. When the Oregon and California railroad extension reaches Jacksonville Portland will have no need to import grapes from California, and the Rogue river valley will become the fruit garden of Oregon.

Y. M. C. A. CLASSES.—The class in double-entry book keeping and in mechanical drawing will begin work on Friday evening, the class in mechanical drawing beginning at 7:30 sharp, the class in bookkeeping beginning at 8:30 and continuing one hour each. The class in mechanical drawing already numbers about twenty-five members, that in bookkeeping the same, and they will probably increase to almost double that number.

CALL FOR TELEGRAMS.—Messages are now in the office of the Western Union Telegraph Company in this city for the following named persons: E. A. Cunningham, McClanahan, H. Hurley, Miss N. Steel, Mrs. I. M. Lyon, D. Cornwall, A. Faust, W. J. Nicolas, A. F. Wise, Jas. Kennedy, C. F. Tangent, Wm. R. Moffitt and F. M. Ackers.

HEARD FROM.—A dispatch was received in this city yesterday from Chief of Police Watkinds. It was dated from Texarkana, Arkansas, Wednesday, October 17, but gave no information as to his movements, or as to whether he had found Draper or not.

BRIEF MENTION.

Chief Watkinds is now supposed to be lasciviating towards home.

Two first class and three second class passengers and sixteen emigrants left yesterday for St. Paul.

Warner & Fuller, contractors, expect to complete the new depot of the Kalama branch in about ten days.

Jno Griemer and his amiable little wife (Miss Phoebe Davies) will be warmly welcomed by theater-goers in this city.

D. Grady, indicted for grand larceny from McQuiry, was arraigned yesterday in the state circuit court and pleaded not guilty.

A 10 year old son of Richard Gerdes accidentally shot himself in the hand on Wednesday, receiving a painful, but not dangerous wound.

The meeting of the Chapman investigating committee has been postponed from this till to-morrow evening, on account of the absence of an important witness.

Four empty box cars, not securely held by the brakes, went over the incline at Albina yesterday. The damage was slight, and the cars will be hauled out to-day.

Poundmaster Hunter's case, in which he is charged by an irate woman with cruelty to a pig, has been postponed for a hearing in the police court until this afternoon.

James Foley and Jeremiah Hallahan were committed to the county jail yesterday by Justice Keegan to await trial upon a charge of having stolen some billiard balls.

Jeff Furgeson, who is a printer in the Astorian office, wishes it understood that he is not the person of the same name who was arrested for larceny of articles in Wm Beck's store.

Samuel Hayward and James Hayden, alias Creighton, and Kerrigan, the burglars, were arraigned yesterday before Judge Stott, and the indictment having been read to them they were allowed until this morning to plead to the same.

A number of the posts used in illuminating First street have been piled on Washington street, near Ninth, occupying about half the space between the sidewalk and the car track. The pile is a nuisance and should be removed at once.

Wednesday night policeman Putnam discovered that the store door of H. Beal, w, on the corner of Second and Madison streets, had been left unlocked by the proprietor. Fortunately the officer was the first discoverer, and acquainting the owner of the place the doors were properly fastened. In the store were about $3000 worth of furs.

W. S. Ladd seems determined that there shall be a good and substantial foundation for the building he proposes to erect at the southwest corner of Front and Morrison streets. The deep trench excavated is being filled with concrete, through which is laid a tier of railroad bars, four in number. This will prove better adapted to sustain the building than a stratum of oyster cans and apple boxes.

The lot on First street, between Columbia and Clay streets, adjoining W. W. Spaulding's fine new building, was cleared off some time since and the excavation commenced for the foundation of a building which the owner of the property, D. Goodsell, proposed to erect thereon. Before the work had proceeded far he sold the lot to Dr. Barthold of Vancouver. It is probable that a handsome building will be erected there next spring.

PERSONAL.

Hon. W. Lair Hill of The Dalles is in the city.

Miss Rosa Jacobs of Corvallis is visiting Miss R. Sayer.

General H. Haupt and party will return from Victoria this evening.

Lieutenant Willard Young, of the United States engineers, has been assigned to duty at the office here.

Mr. Chas. A. Hughes leaves this morning for North Powder, Union county, where he will engage in business.

Policeman W. A. Beaumont, who has for some time been seriously ill with malarial fever, is now convalescent.

Mrs. H. M. Kersey arrived by the last steamer, and is the guest of Mrs. John Cran. Mrs. Kersey leaves in a few days for St. Paul.

Mrs. George Nicol has returned from a six weeks' visit to Montreal, Canada, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Taylor, who will remain in Portland this winter.

M. F. Blake, editor of the Seattle Sunday Star, which will begin publication on the first Sunday of next month, leaves this morning for his new field of labor. He invites all of his numerous friends when they come over to the Sound to drop in—the Sound.

Rev. Theo. T. B. Reed, pastor of the African M. E. Zion church of this city, who recently arrived here from New York, was on Wednesday married to Miss Celia Thompson, of Washington, D. C. The ceremony was performed by Chaplain R. S. Stubbs of the Church of Sea and Land.

IN MEMORIAM.

At the last monthly meeting of the Ladies' Relief Society, it was Voted, That an expression should be given to the great loss which the society has met in the death of Mrs. Eliza Ainsworth at Oakland, California, on the 2ld ult.

It was mainly owing to her efforts, and a few like-minded friends, that this society was formed in the early spring of 1867. It was the outgrowth of their earnest endeavors to relieve the needs of many of the emigrants, as they often came to us in the early fall without means to provide food and clothing for the coming winter.

As one of its founders, its first president, and as the venerated head of its advisory board—which responsible position she held through the whole of its history until her removal to Oakland in 1882—she devoted strength of body and mind to promote its best interests, and a change of residence did not lessen her love for it.

For some years feeble health has prevented her taking an active part in the work of the society, but her counsels were eagerly sought and highly prized by her associates. But not only in this society, but in church, Sabbath school and all Christian work, she was ever active and faithful.

Very quiet and unobtrusive in manner, no one doubted the sincerity of her belief, or the loving heart that prompted her faithful, tender Christian counsels.

Such a life is worth living, and the end of it is peace, and the memory of it will long be cherished.

Portland, Oct. 18.

MOZART'S CLOAKS.

The ladies and children's cloaks, dolmans and ulsters made by Mozart are much better and far cheaper than the Eastern manufactured garments. The public will do well by visiting Mozart's Cloak and Suit House, No. 70 Morrison street, before buying elsewhere.

Dr. Lydia M. Hunt will deliver a private lecture to ladies only this afternoon at 3 P. M. at Masonic Hall.

C. H. Wilcox, N. W. corner First and Oak, bookseller and stationer. All leading newspapers and periodicals in stock. Subscriptions a specialty. Give him a call.

THE MECHANICS' FAIR.

"PRODUCTS" EXHIBIT—LIST OF PICTURES.

Twenty-five Hundred People in Attendance Last Night.

The pavilion was thronged again last night, the attendance numbering about twenty-five hundred. Of this crowd, fully half were from the country or from the various towns of this state and Washington territory. The art gallery was as usual the chief attraction, and inspection of the various works was very much assisted by catalogues, for the first time provided, which were on sale for ten cents, this charge being made merely to cover the cost of publication. We hear some little complaint against a very proper rule in relation to umbrellas and walking sticks. It ought to be remembered that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and the management commended for caution rather than blamed. The art gallery continues to excite the admiration and wonder of all visitors. It is pronounced superior to the loan exhibition recently given in Sacramento, California, and fully equal to that of San Francisco last year.

From the catalogue just printed we give the following information. The art committee of the fair association is composed of George H. Chance, L. L. Hawkins and W. R. Smith. The list of loan contributors is as follows: [illegible] G. Reed, W. S. Ladd, H. W. Corbett, Henry Failing, S. S. Burge, Frederick Townsend, W. M. Monson, Cleveland Rockwell, H. Dusenbury, J. E. Stuart, George H. Chance, Charles H. Dodd, D. P. Thompson, C. C. Morse & Co., E. W. Crane, S. and G. Gump & Co., J. B. Garrison, W. R. Sharman. Forest, Farm, Garden and Dairy.

By far the most important and interesting department of the fair is that of that containing the natural products of Oregon, and which is lodged in the southwest corner of the pavilion, ground floor, in the room occupied during former fairs as a refreshment hall. Two exhibits are contained in this department, one by Mr. A. J. Dufur for the Mechanics' Fair association, and the other by Mr. D. D. Prettyman for the Northern Pacific Immigration bureau. Mr. Dufur's collection occupies the western half of the wall room and most of the floor space, and of the two is considerably the larger. In it every section of the state is represented.

WHEAT.

Forty-two varieties in sheaf and grain are displayed. The arrangement is neat, affording every advantage of easy view, and each sample is marked with its special name, its place of production and the yield per acre of the crop of which it was a fraction. A finer exposition of the wheat growing capacity of the country could not possibly have been made. Mr. Dufur was assisted in the work of collecting this admirable exhibit by Messrs. George Baisbaw of al, Wilkins of Lane county, K. L. [illegible] of Marion, N. W. Randall of Clackamas and Durur Bros. of Wasco.

OTHER GRAINS.

Rye, barley, oats and corn from the various sections of the state are represented by numerous samples. The display of corn is remarkably fine.

GRASSES.

All of our native pasture grasses, thirty-three varieties, are represented in fine sheaf samples, collected principally in the Willamette valley and in Wasco county.

TIMBER.

We believe that no such display of Oregon wood as that now in Mr. Dufur's department was ever before made. Thirty-three samples in the block, varying in size from a big butt cut to a twig, are shown in their native state and sawed into the various ways to show the grain. All are without paint or polish, showing the wood as it grows.

POTATOES.

A hundred samples, including thirty or more varieties, are shown. The effects of soil and soils different degrees of moisture and different methods of cultivation are easily traced in various samples of the same varieties. The collection is remarkable. Of particular interest is a sample of four varieties of sweet potatoes grown in Lynn county by Mr. C. P. Burkhart.

GENERAL GARDEN VEGETABLES.

The exhibit of this class of products is very fine, and comprises a list of samples which would almost fill a column. All varieties of the garden are represented in choice examples.

FRUITS.

This department, too, is complete as far as western and eastern Oregon are concerned. There are, all told, not less than 150 samples. The superiority of the eastern Oregon exhibit, most of it from Wasco county, is noticed by all. A finer collection of apples was never exhibited anywhere. The display of Oregon grapes is the best, we believe, ever made. Mr. A. R. Shipley of Clackamas county, nine miles from Portland, and Mr. Lewelling, also of Clackamas county, display rich collections of grapes, and it would puzzle the best judges to fairly award the palm—or, to use the modern expression, the cake. Both certainly are very fine.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.

The assertion so often made by this journal that Oregon is the finest dairy country in the world is proved by the host, though small, exhibit of dairy products. Major Bruce displays some gilt-edge pats made from the cream of his Jersey cows on his farm in Washington county. From the Reedville farm, in the same county, some fine samples are displayed. Pierce Bros. of Scappoose, down on the Columbia, show some fine samples, as also does Mrs. Gardiner, of Oak ridge, Sauvies' Island. Hiram Stone, of Sandy, shows a fine collection of cheese, none of which, to the reporter's regret, were cut. N. J. West also exhibits a fine collection of cheese made at his farm on the Clatsop plains.

WOOL.

So far as it goes, the wool exhibit is good, but it does not go far enough. Only two exhibits are made, one a fine fleece of Cotswold and Leicester samples from the Reedville farm in Washington county by Ladd and Reed, and [illegible], two fleeces of Oxfordshire samples by M. Wilkins of Lane county. Neither eastern Oregon or the [illegible] valley are represented at all.

There are a great number of [illegible] exhibits in this department. [illegible] sausage, doughnuts, [illegible] bottles of [illegible] fruits, etc., etc., add interest and variety to the department, which, as a whole, is the most interesting feature of this interesting fair. Mr. Dufur undertook the task of collecting this exhibit at a late date, and has done wonderfully well. He would have done even better had he been notified at the proper time.

A GENERAL EXHIBIT.

The immigration bureau of the Northern Pacific railroad occupies the north end of the products exhibit hall, and displays a fine lot of [illegible] grains, fruits, etc. This collection was made by Mr. D. D. Prettyman, who is in charge of it, and who takes the highest pleasure in explaining and answering the thousand questions which are put to him. The samples are a fair average of the crops from which they were taken, and are drawn from every part of the state.

Among the woods in the immigration bureau's exhibit are several slabs of the myrtle, a beautiful furniture wood which grows in great abundance in Coos county, on the southern coast. Its general tone is a rich, dark yellow, veined with darker seams, like marble. When dressed, it has the luster of mahogany, with more variety, and is far superior to walnut in beauty as the latter [illegible] of fir.

Special Exhibits.

HAYNES, CABLE & CAMPBELL'S.

Display a choice assortment of hard and shelf hardware, tools for carpenters, machinists, masons, cabinet makers, moulders, jewelers and wood carvers; scroll saws of various styles with material and tools that accompany them; prize boxes and prize Holly scroll saws, for which they are sole agents. They make a specialty of fine fishing tackle, and display the finest case of flies ever brought to Oregon. The flies were made and arranged by J. S. Benn, who is known to be one of the best makers in the country. Any sportsman who appreciates a fine fly would be well paid for his visit to the exposition if he saw nothing but this case. One of the greatest novelties displayed is the Norton door check and spring, for which this firm are sole agents for Oregon and Washington territory. The action of this spring is perfect, and by its use the slamming of doors and breaking of glass is rendered absolutely impossible. Quite a number were attached to doors in this city last winter, and gave unbounded satisfaction. We have one in use in THE OREGONIAN office, and consider it worth its weight in gold. It is very desirable for hotels, stores, churches, theatres, banks, court rooms, etc., etc., and may be seen in successful operation in many places in this city.

THE PACIFIC SPRING AND MATTRESS COMPANY

Have an exhibit in the southwest corner of the gallery, which attracts great attention. The company make a specialty of mattresses of all kinds. They have a mattress in sections which can be used in twelve different positions, which makes it wear alike on all sides. We regard it as one of the best we have ever seen. They also exhibit the Clark bed lounge, which is the neatest, smallest when up of any bed lounge made. It is also large and roomy when made down. It can be used for parlor, dining or bedroom and is sold much cheaper than any other kind. Another article they exhibit is the Crandall spring mattress, which has taken the gold medal and first premium since 1880 in competition with all other beds. It is the most durable and comfortable bed ever invented and is guaranteed for ten years. None of the visitors at the fair should miss seeing this splendid exhibit. The sales and warerooms of the Pacific Spring and Mattress Co. are located 211, 213 Second street, where intending buyers will find an elegant stock always on hand at lowest prices.

A NEW FEATURE

Of the fair is Professor Gramer with his famous glass blowing works. He is located in the side room off from the east end of floral hall, and is attracting immense crowds, all of whom speak in highest terms of praise of his exhibit. We stepped in last evening and made an examination of the various beautiful and novel articles which the professor has made since he was here last fair time. We were astonished at the marvelous skill displayed by him in his work. We saw there one of the greatest triumphs of art ever accomplished by any artist in the land. It is no less than a lady's dress made entirely of glass, and so fine and flexible is the glass, which it resembles very much. It was spun from glass by the professor, and is without doubt the greatest curiosity and most beautiful thing ever placed on exhibition in any fair in Portland. Go and see it.

E. J. C. BURR'S.

Display of picture frames, brackets, mirrors, steel engravings, paintings and other art goods still attract the multitude. There is hardly a question as to their being entitled to first prize.

THE ESTEY ORGANS

Which D. W. Prentice displays are considered by all as the leading instruments in that line at the fair.

THE NEW MASSILLON

Thresher seems to be the favorite this year with all the farmers at the fair. It has many superior points. The cylinder and concaves, with their bearings and supports, their method of adjustment, the ease with which the feeder can do his work and the freedom from dust, commend it to all. The cylinder is carried on a heavy steel shaft, has wide bearings running in best Babbitt metal boxes, with a pivot box at the bent end on steam machines, and is of a weight sufficient to secure steady motion even in irregular feeding. The cylinder is adjustable endways. The concaves are adjustable horizontally, perpendicularly and in their order, the former adjustment being made but once unless concaves are changed. There are hundreds of other good points about the New Massillon, but we have not space to enumerate them.

G. SHINDLER & CO.,

The leading furniture dealers of Portland, receive a vast amount of praise on their excellent display of furniture and wall paper. It surpasses all previous exhibits in this line.

THE STEINWAY PIANO

At J. H. Robbins & Son's booth is listened to every evening with great pleasure by the music-loving visitors, and we hear many flattering comments on its merits.

JOHN B. GARRISON

Still holds the field in the sewing machine line. Is all the lady visitors to the fair remain of the same mind in regard to his sewing machines he will be pushed to supply orders for the next year.

J. G. DURKEE

Still continues to make the people happy with his delicious candies from his famous Postoffice Candy Store.

F. G. ABELL

Has taken views of some of the most worthy exhibits, which do credit to his skill as an artist. They can be seen at his stand in the gallery.

GARDNER BROS.'

Display of pianos and organs is a credit to the enterprise of that firm. The music from their booth delights the visitors every evening.

THE WOOD WORK

On the inlaid table exhibited by Charles Louis Kuhn is marvelous. His table ought to take first prize.

DIRTY STREETS.

PORTLAND, Oct. 13.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

I have been a resident of Portland for many years, and can conscientiously say the streets are now in a more filthy condition than I have ever seen them. Can you inform me who is responsible for this disgraceful condition of affairs, and why an effort is not made to remedy it?

TAXPAYER.

[The condition of the streets is certainly bad, but scarcely so bad as "Taxpayer" represents. The responsibility of attending to the cleaning of the streets devolves upon Major A. F. Sears, superintendent of streets, and incidentally upon the chief of police, who is absent from the city at present. An effort has been made to have the streets cleaned by contract, and pending the decision of the council on the matter the streets have been neglected. But now that this matter has been settled, it is to be expected that a vigorous effort will be made to have our streets put in order.]

CORRECTION.

In the account of the accident to Mr. J. Nu Shaver of East Portland, in yesterday morning's OREGONIAN it was stated in error that the barrow tooth "penetrated the skull." It should have read "which penetrated the knee." It was also stated that he was insured in the Travelers'. Reference to his insurance should have read, "Mr. Shaver formerly had an accident policy in the Accident Insurance Co. of North America with a [illegible] for $200, in case of death, and $ [illegible] a week indemnity."

THE EAST SIDE.

THE MUNICIPAL DEAD-LOCK.

In response to the call for a special meeting of the common council, President Spruce and councilmen Mayo and Smith occupied their respective positions at roll call last evening. A quorum not being present, the president directed the marshal to notify the absentees, councilmen Laing and Crane, that their presence was desired. The marshal replied that he had just performed that duty, having a few minutes previously met those gentlemen on the street, and in response to his notification had said they would not be present at the meeting. The president thereupon declared an adjournment till the next regular meeting of the council, the first Monday in November.

The call stated the object of the meeting to be the appointment of a chief engineer to succeed the one whose term expired, and for "other business." This latter feature of the call suggests an explanation for the action of the absent councilmen, possibly being afraid [illegible] This idea, however, is scouted by the gentlemen who were present, who say that the meeting was necessary in order to elect a chief engineer before the new fire engine which is shortly expected to arrive, such action being necessary under the ordinance providing for the same. They aver also that the clause referring to "other business" was merely for the purpose of accepting grading completed by C. L. Spere on Third and [illegible] streets. If the fire engine should arrive before the election of a chief engineer, and this could not now be done before the next regular meeting of the council, there is no person at direct the city who is authorized to accept the engine, but still the company furnishing the engine can hold the city responsible for the same and charge for storage until it is accepted. It is hard to divine what the members absenting themselves have to fear, as no important measures, such as the election of a city recorder, marshal and the appropriation of money, [illegible] adopted by the council by less than four votes. It is not probable, however, that they will long continue to persist in absenting themselves from the meetings of the council if they do not resign, as the law can compel their attendance, if the following provision of the city charter is operative:

"A majority of the common council shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from time to time and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as the council have previously prescribed. It may prescribe rules for the government of the proceedings, punish any member or other person for disorderly conduct at its meetings, and, with the concurrence of two thirds of the whole number elected, may expel any member."

Meanwhile the dead-lock continues, with the first warders holding the key.

SUDDEN DEATH.

The wife of Mr. Dan Murphy of Holladay's addition, while preparing breakfast yesterday, suddenly fell to the floor in an apoplectic fit. Dr. Day, Rafferty was immediately summoned, but upon his arrival life was found to be extinct. The husband of deceased is at work upon a farm in Lewis county, W. T., and probably will be unable to arrive here in time for the funeral.

INTO THE GULCH.

One of the teams of the Pacific Lumber Company, employed in hauling lumber for the bridge being built over Sullivan's gulch, on Fifth street, was precipitated down the gulch yesterday morning, together with the loaded wagon, by reason of one of the horses becoming fractious. The distance to the bottom from where the team landed is about seventy-five feet, and it is a wonder the animals were not killed outright. They are badly crippled, however, though no bones are broken. A veterinary surgeon was immediately sent for and attended them. The animals were valued at $500.

NOTES.

Mrs. W. H. Moore is lying critically ill.

The elevated roadway on Third street, between J and L, was finished yesterday.

Wheeler Church of Church & Sidden, has been confined to his residence several days with an affection of the lungs.

J. L. Sperry and Penumbra Kelly have returned from a week's hunt to the vicinity of Green mountain, having two fine bucks to show for it.

The street commissioner has graveled the approach to the C street ferry, and laid a sidewalk on the south side of the bridge across the slough, much to the delight of pedestrians who use that portion of the street.

A motion was adopted by the council Monday to appropriate $150 towards the expenses of the fill made by Mr. Teal under at Ninth and I streets, but as an ordinance is necessary for this purpose, and there are only three members willing to vote for it, Mr. T. will probably continue unsatisfied.

A GRAND
Gas Balloon Ascension.
FREE TO ALL.
BY PROF. P. A. VAN TASSEL,
IN HIS
MAMMOTH AIR SHIP "CITY OF SALT LAKE,"
Given by and under the auspices of
E. Wineburgh & Co.,
DRY GOODS MERCHANTS OF 126 FIRST ST.,
Who have engaged the aeronaut, Prof. P. A. Van Tassel, at an enormous expense, who on this occasion will be accompanied by representatives of the press. This new mammoth gas balloon has a capacity of thirty thousand feet of gas and is capable of carrying two thirds of a ton. The ascension will take place
ON THURSDAY, OCT. 25th, at 2:30 P. M.,
FROM CIRCUS GROUNDS, A and Pine and Fourth and Fifth streets. Tickets of admission to be had free of charge, unconditionally, by making application at Wineburgh's Mammoth Bazaar,
126 First St., near Washington St.
The grounds will be fenced in and have a seating capacity for 10,000 people. No one will be admitted without a ticket. Visitors to the city and their families must not fail to procure a ticket to witness the thrilling sensation as the aeronaut and his passengers take their places in the frail basket for the noble and sublime ascent among the clouds. A balloon ascension invariably leaves a deep and lasting impression on the mind. As an achievement of science it is one of the grandest ever witnessed, exhibiting man's dominion over the very air we breathe.

THE BIG STORE
LOADED
From Basement to Roof.
EVERY FLOOR PACKED WITH
DRY GOODS, FANCY GOODS, CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES AND FURNISHING GOODS,
Bought at ridiculously low prices, and will be sold without any regard to values. We made a big stir among dealers last season at the bargains we offered, but this season regular prices will create more excitement than any slaughter sale ever inaugurated by us. We want everybody to come and see how our store is packed with goods. We want everybody to take advantage of the unusual values we offer. It is customary with all dealers to put on the profits at the beginning of the season, but we shall start in with a big boom and "let her go" with a rush, depending on our big trade with small margins to see us safely through. Below we give some prices and we want you to read them. We know you will be benefited thereby. And don't forget that because we name low prices we have not the finest and best made goods to be found on earth. Come and see us this week.
MEN'S CLOTHING.
For $5 and $6 we will sell you a good heavy Union Cassimere Suit in several very desirable patterns. Our assortment of $7, $7 50 and $8 Suits is endless, and every one of them representing more value than ever offered before. $9 and $10 gets a good, substantial All-Wool Cassimere Suit, plain or fancy styles, every one of them worth 25 per cent. more money. Thousands upon thousands All-Wool Suits, made from Sawyers, Harris and Hock Cassimeres, for $12 and $15, sold last season for $20 and $25, and cost from $3 to $5 more to manufacture than the price we get for them. We have an immense assortment of $20 Suits, made and cut by Custom Tailors and Cutters during the dull season. An elegant line of Double-Breasted Frock Suits for dress and evening wear.
Our line of FALL OVERCOATS embraces every style of our own and Eastern make, from a $5 coat to the finest satin.
GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.
In this department, as in all others, we commence the season with goods marked at such low prices that the figures will astonish other dealers, and consequently surprise our customers when they examine the value we are offering in every article on sale in our Gents' Furnishing House.
BED BLANKETS.
Good Gray Blankets, a pair....$1 95
All-Wool Gray Blankets, a pair....4 50
White Blankets, very good, a pair....2 25

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 19, 1883.

DIVISION OF SPOKANE COUNTY.

CHENEY, Spokane Co., W. T., Oct. 15, 1883.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The people of this county were interested in your editorial comment on the division of Spokane county. While your article had every appearance of fairness, together with a pretty correct understanding of our local affairs, allow me to give you a few additional particulars. At the republican county convention of Spokane county last fall Dr. Whitehouse was a candidate for joint councilman. Knowing that the people were opposed to any division of the county he published a letter promising not to interfere with county lines. He assured and reassured the people at different times that if elected he would not favor a division.

It is true, as you say, that Spokane county is a large county. So far as area is concerned it is too large for one county. But bear in mind that a large part of the county is not susceptible to cultivation or settlement, except by stockmen to range their herds. A glance at any map will prove the correctness of the above statement. Again, the map in the N. P. R. R. land department will show that at least three fourths of the agricultural lands sold is much nearer Cheney than either Sprague or Spokane Falls. The fact that the people selected the town site of Cheney and themselves located the county seat, should be satisfactory evidence of their idea of the central position of Cheney.

The fact is, there is considerable malice and thirst for office in this business. Leaving aside the question of the ambitions of the three towns of Spokane Falls, Cheney and Sprague, the people in the country are almost unanimously opposed to any division at this time, and will not believe that the present legislature will allow it to be slashed up, just to satisfy the enmity of a few on one side and to make offices for a few on another side. No bill will pass the legislature at this session that will create more bitterness, dissatisfaction and disgust than the bill to divide Spokane county—if it should pass.

BIG BENDER.

CHENEY DEFENDS THE COUNTY SEAT.

CHENEY, W. T., Oct. 14, 1883.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I have noticed in two issues of your paper, lately, articles favorable to a division of Spokane county. Your paper is extensively read in our town, and in view of this fact we demand a hearing. In your last issue it was stated that a petition bearing 2000 names was presented to the legislature at Olympia, asking for a division of this county, and that petitions came from all parts of the county. I would like to correct this statement, for it is wholly incorrect. The country, I can safely say, is nine-tenths against division at this time. Remonstrances have been circulated east and west, and not one man in fifty but was eager to sign it; and that portion of the county it is purposed to set off, to be designated as the county of Sprague, has signed the remonstrance to a man. That the project of county division at this time was gotten up by Spokane Falls and Sprague, is known to every man in Spokane county, and for the purpose of getting the county seat from Cheney and placing it at the Falls, while the county seat of the new county would be located at Sprague.

It was stated as an argument in your paper that the distance was so great to the present county seat that it was a great inconvenience, and necessitated great expense in doing county business. If you will refer to your geography and are informed as to the settlements, you will see that Sprague is as remote to the western people as Cheney.

L. H. Whitehouse was defeated in this county (although strongly republican) because it was generally known that Spokane Falls put him up to push this division scheme. Ever since the county seat has been located at Cheney by the voice of the people Spokane Falls people have bragged they would have it back, and their proposed plan has ever been the division of the county. They claim to have 2000 names on their petition. I state that not one half of those names are taxpayers or legal voters in this county. The assessment roll of 1883 shows but 2300 taxpayers altogether, and 1600 of these are on a remonstrance and over 1400 of them from the country. I have been told by as good men as we have in this county that they have seen men who have no residence in the territory sign the petition at the Falls for division. Also a drummer from San Francisco stated that when in Sprague he was importuned strongly to sign a petition for division, even after he told them he was no resident of the territory. If necessary, many affidavits of this kind can be had. I here assert that the petition for division has not 400 names of taxpayers and voters from the farming community, and I can prove it by the assessment roll of this county. Our remonstrance goes to the legislature accompanied with a certified list of the taxpayers, gotten up by R. A. Hutchinson, county assessor. Our remonstrance is also headed by all the officials in the county except two, and their sympathy is known to be with the Falls. The sense of the grand jury was taken at the last term of court, and thirteen were against division. That part of the county which it is purposed to set off, a great portion of it is as yet unsettled and the settlers who have settled there have, nine-tenths of them, come in the last two years, and they claim it is all they can do to sustain life, and cry out loud against the expense of organizing and supporting a new county.

It is told by good authority that men have gone from the Falls with $2000 to divide the county, and that they boast that no legislature can withstand that amount of money. We have no money to use in that way, and have too much respect for our legislature to offer them such inducements if we had. We have done all that we could, in an honorable way, and are willing to abide the results.

T. M. CALLOWAY.

STILL ANOTHER.

CHENEY, Oct. 14.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The vote of Spokane county last November was less than 2000, viz.: Joint councilmen, total vote, 1939; delegate in congress 1982, which is about an average vote. The census last year showed a little over 9000 total population. I inclose a partial list of names who have signed a remonstrance to division. Therefore the division cannot be "strongly backed by citizens of all parts of the county." There are about 1400 names on this remonstrance, so, necessarily, there cannot be anything like 2000 or even 1000 names on this petition. Repetition: Total population, 9300; total vote November, 1882, 2000 remonstrants, 1400 legal voters. Knowing you wishing to do fairly by all, I hope you will correct what must have appeared to you as an error in the statement that our people are for division.

The truth is no one is taking any interest to divide the county except parties who expect, one to get the new, the other the old county seat. Both places have men at Olympia working for that end. So much of this as is my own statement you can give on my authority if you wish. A great wrong is being done, as our councilman is not representing us.

R. H. TODD.

SALEM NOTES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, Oct. 11.

McAfee & Hawkins will open their new drug store in the National bank building this evening.

Mrs. L. E. Morgan died yesterday at the family residence near Turner and will be buried to-day.

Sedgwick post, G. A. R., of this city, will light their first camp fire of the season on the evening of October 30.

Rev. P. S. Knight returned from Olympia last evening, where he had been in attendance at the territorial legislature.

Frank Detrick was arrested yesterday, charged with giving liquor to Indians, and will be taken to Portland for trial to-day.

E. Martin of Yamhill county and J. O. Ryan of this city will run a 100-yard footrace at the state air ground on Saturday next for $250 a side, Ryan to have ten feet start in the race.

Master Fred. Van Wagner of this city has been missing from his home since fair week, and his father, Charles Van Wagner, would be pleased to learn of his present whereabouts. The lad is about 14 years of age.

Charles E. Stewart, well and favorably known in this city, where he has considerable real estate, was married at Frierton, Scotland, September 20, to Miss Margaret Robinson of that city. A host of Charlie's friends, who have long since placed him on the list of incorrigible old bachelors, will be pleasantly surprised at this, his new departure.

The cases of the state of Oregon vs. William Smith and William Mansfield, charged with assaulting Warden Collins of the penitentiary with a deadly weapon during the prison outbreak of July 3, will come up in the circuit court to-day. The state will be represented by Messrs. Holmes & Knight, and the defense by Hon. W. G. Piper, upon appointment by the court. The extreme penalty of the law being death no little interest is manifested in the result.

J. F. Johnson of Kansas City, Mo., arrived here yesterday, having been advised of his son's, H. C. Johnson's, death, while discharging his duties as a brakeman on the freight train near Aurora, on the 2d inst. He came with the intention of having the body exhumed and taken home for burial, but our coroner, Dr. W. C. Warriner, having already given the remains a proper burial in the Lone Fir cemetery, near this city, the bereaved parent concluded to permit them to remain undisturbed and will soon return home without them, carrying with him only the keepsakes and effects of his beloved offspring.

The cab driven by William Chambers, and containing five passengers from the evening express train, met with a mishap last evening in crossing a ditch on Court street, carelessly left open by parties engaged in laying gas pipes. The horses stumbled and fell, and ran some little distance with the front springs broken, the broken ends of which protruded through the wheel fenders and otherwise demoralizing the vehicle. Mr. Chambers succeeded in checking the frightened animals up and unloading his passengers without injury to any save a mashed finger to one lady passenger. Almost criminal carelessness was manifested in not having a warning light suspended over the ditch thus left exposed in the night time, and some one will no doubt be compelled to foot a bill for damages, while thanking their good fortune that the result was no more serious.

I am in receipt of marked copies of the Sunday Herald, published at Columbus, Ohio, and edited by Hon. W. S. Furay, one of the examining commission appointed to inspect the last seventy-five miles of the main track of the N. P. R. R., and who accompanied the Villard excursion party over the road. He writes a very interesting account of his trip, touching upon scenes and incidents unnoticed by other journalists and depicted in a style peculiarly his own and of intense interest to his readers. He is enthusiastic over the country and its resources, and being a careful observer is capable of furnishing his thousands of readers with an idea of the magnitude of the great northwest. He was one of the few excursionists who visited Salem, and alludes to Mayor Harrison's speech here where he declared that after three weeks' total abstinence he had entirely forgotten the taste of water. Mr. Furay also alludes in graceful terms to his acquaintanceship with Congressman George, Governor Moody, Secretary Earhart and other prominent Oregonians, making his letter of local interest to residents of this state.

Fresh air, exercise, good food and Dr. Benson's Celery and Chamomile pills will, when used together, cure any case of nervousness, sick headache, or indigestion. They strengthen the nervous system. 5,000 physicians prescribe them.

CLUTTSVILLE, Ala.—Dr. W. Carter, says, "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters in my own family for indigestion with great benefit."

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

THURSDAY, Oct. 18.

The last calendar week closed with an active trade, but the present opened rather quiet, yet there has been a good call for merchandise. The quiet feeling is due to temporary causes, and is the result of previous busy weeks having called for unusual activity. One influence, that is a marked one, is the unmistakably lessened importations from California. Increased overland receipts do not create the stir that steamer receipts do. Again the despondent feeling created by falling stocks has figured somewhat in the matter. We have to note a good seasonable call for merchandise, with only a fair produce movement, many lines comprising produce being very quiet.

Railroad stocks to-day show a much better front, but whether it is only for the day cannot be determined. It would seem that they had reached a point low enough to satisfy the most determined foe. Private telegrams give rise to the hope that the worst is over, and that a better turn is at hand.

It is expected that to-morrow will see a full loading movement with ships. The Longshoremen's union have purchased Fairfowl's apparatus and propose to work on a co-operative plan.

The town of Weston, Umatilla county, suffered severely from a fire last night. The business portion of the town was nearly destroyed.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours: 9486 ctls wheat, 913 bbls flour, 164 ctls millstuff, 27 sks potatoes, 376 lbs hides, 33 bxs eggs, 5300 lbs hops, 125 bxs fruit, 10 bxs butter, 110 bls hay. Also 9620 ctls wheat, 920 bbls flour, 217 ctls millstuff, 2788 lbs wool from the eastern section.

Receipts by leading lines of transportation for past seven days have been: 46,270 ctls wheat, 9863 bbls flour, 2701 ctls oats, 1346 ctls bran, 1371 ctls millstuff, 970 sks potatoes, 62,731 lbs wool, 9234 lbs hides, 60,966 lbs hops, 700 bls hay, 111 bxs butter, 211 bxs eggs, 1487 bxs fruit from the valley section, and 104,049 ctls wheat, 4812 bbls flour, 217 ctls millstuff, 12,603 lbs wool, 6015 lbs hides, 14,016 lbs hops from the eastern section. Also 2311 bbls San Juan lime.

Receipts since August 1, as compared with like time for last year, have been:

	1883.	1882.
Wheat—Centals	832,066	664,191
Flour—Barrels	60,946	88,127
Oats—Centals	21,884	34,685

Millstuff—Centals	7,179	18,019
Barley—Centals	2,072	1,383
Potatoes—Sacks	2,562	4,200
Wool—Pounds	1,590,946	1,158,810
Hides—Pounds	232,618	267,298
Hops—Pounds	151,730	.....

FREIGHTS—No spot business made public, if anything is doing. Rumors of recent business cannot be traced. The iron bark Martaban comes from Victoria under charter, but whether sent by Victoria parties who could not find salmon for her or rechartered here is not stated. The iron ship Blengfell came in to-day under prior charter and another vessel was reported coming in at noon. Of the tonnage en route three-fifths comes under charter and mostly at high rates. Heavy losses are being incurred in this manner and a recent estimate put the probable loss to San Francisco operators at $650,000 in the decline of freights alone. This is a large sum but in the hope of getting it back some of the operators are at present taking up and loading cheap ships. With us shippers are hanging back and doing only what is necessary in the way of loading prior arrivals. The amount chartered on spot during the decline was light. In absence of business it is impossible to say just what freights are worth, but wood could not command 50s at this writing. San Francisco advices to-day are not calculated to be hopeful to the owner. Exporters there are engaged in figuring closely the probable exportable surplus, in order to see what tonnage needs will probably be.

WHEAT—Foreign markets have been disappointing, and the situation is much less encouraging than for last week. Some qualities show a quoted decline, and there is an almost entire absence of any demand. At San Francisco spot business is steady, and the wheat placed in ships represents a value of 43s 3d, c. f. i., which is 6d above actual sale value in the English market. The same may be said of our own market, and local sellers have very considerably the best of the situation. The future is veiled in darkness, but it is certain that any advance abroad will be largely swallowed up by higher freights; indeed, such an advance is all that shipowners have to base their demands upon. The feeling is growing that the present year cannot show much of a change either way. The local market is difficult to quote, but shippers are offering $1 60 for valley and $1 62½ for eastern. Millers are reported as paying a shade better. Transactions are almost entirely confined to the interior. Receipts to date this season nearly equal those of last year, but the eastern section has sent us very considerably more than has the valley. Regarding our probable exportable surplus we have to report little new. None will be sent in the shape of flour until foreign values show a marked improvement and as time rolls by and no flour is sent there is about one-third more tons dispatched. While many figure that we will have 300,000 tons there are those who place it at 30,000 and even 100,000 less. A third or even a sixth of an apparent falling off is considerable. It will be remembered that at the beginning of harvest 250,000 tons was generally accepted as being very near the figure. As reports of excellent yield came in this figure was increased materially. There is no way of getting at the probable surplus, but it would prove very surprising if it exceeded 250,000 tons. We are inclined to still believe this amount will not be reached. California's standard samples have been made up. No. 1 is to weigh 59½ lbs and No. 2 57½ lbs. Last year three-fourths the wheat shipped was invoiced as No. 1, and this year's classification will probably be the same. The standard is perceptibly getting lower year by year. If continued a third standard will be necessary for California wheat. The standard has become so unreliable that buyers wishing choice wheats must pay an advance on quoted prices of No. 1, for the classification is gradually becoming no sure indication of the worth of the wheat.

FLOUR—Supplies are steadily increasing and either some outlet must be found or grinding lessened. We are sending more to California, but that is not as profitable a proceeding as it should be. Three vessels are now lying at the docks under charter to mills and one has taken in wheat. The three will doubtless do the same. We quote standard brands at $5, less usual trade discount.

MILLSTUFF—Local receipts larger and California receipts for a week have been nothing. Values remain firm and depend largely upon future grinding. Ground barley is in free receipt from California and sells at $27@30 per ton. We quote bran, $20@24; chop, $29@32 50; middlings, $30@35 per ton.

OATS—Market has ruled firm for the week, extreme values being realized. At the close it cannot be called as firm and to sell readily 58c must be shaded. We quote feed, 55@58c; milling, 58@60c.

HOPS—It cannot yet be said that there is a market here. Receipts have been fairly large but by far the larger portion being in course of shipment. Commission houses now hold some, for which they demand 18@20c. A few small sales of not strictly choice have been reported at 15@15½c. In absence of any real business the positions of buyer and seller is given. The buyer says he cannot pay over 16c, because more is not admitted by the situation. He claims that sales now being made elsewhere are to brewers, who will have their needs supplied by the time new purchases would reach him. That the crop is short nowhere and to pay up would prove ruinous. The seller claims that hops bring 24@26c in New York, freight from here is 3@4c and that his product is worth to-day 20@21c. That there is a determined movement on the part of buyers to bear down prices, thinking the seller will weaken.

WOOL—The market shows less tone and almost nothing is doing. Offers do not exceed 18c for best from either section, while 19c is demanded. Some fall Umpqua sold at 16@18c to go to San Francisco. The coming week will witness direct eastern shipments.

POTATOES—We quote 1@1¼c as to quality. Stocks are ample for requirements, and the only real demand is for very choice.

FRUIT—Apples drag at 75c@$1 25, the latter only for fancy. Pears sell more readily at $1@1 50.

PROVISIONS—Overland receipts include two cars sides and several lots lard. Prices are firm for all kinds. Quotations are: Choice Oregon hams, 15@16c; best eastern, 15@21c; bacon, 13@14½c; lard, in pails, 15@16c; in tins, 14@15c; shoulders, 12@13c. A fraction advance is asked for very best cuts of meats, but lard is being shaded.

DRIED FRUITS—Supplies are generally light and choice sells readily at top prices. Quote sun-dried apples, 12½c; Plummer dried apples, in boxes, 16c; plums, 16c; Oregon prunes, 12c; German prunes, 10c; raisins, $2 60 per box, with usual advance for fractions; peaches, 15@17c; pears, 10@12½c; California figs, 3c.

CHEESE—A steady market rules at 15c for California, and 16@18 for local and eastern.

HIDES AND SKINS—Market weaker for hides. We quote green hides, 7@8c @ lb; dry, 14@15c—culls 1/3 off; deerskins, summer, E. O., 28@25c; valley, 25@33c; winter, E. O., 18@20c; valley, 20@25c; elk, 14@16c; Indian dressed buckskins, 75c@$1; black bear, per skin, $1 50@5; brown, $1@3; mink, dark, 10@70c; dark fisher, $1@4 50; red fox, 50@75c; mountain fox, 10@20c; prime dark marten, 75c@$1 50; muskrats, 8c; badger, 19c; raccoon, 10@25c; land otter, $1 50@4; wolf, 50@75c; wolverine, [illegible] $1 50; house cat, 10c; wild cat, [illegible]; divers, 10c; coyote, 25c [illegible]

BUTTER—Shipments [illegible] rents. The market is fairly supplied with local choice, while there is plenty of good to common. Quote choice roll 40@45c; packed, 30@35c.

CHICKENS—At the close a weak market rules under large arrivals. Quote old, $4 50@5; young, $3@4.

EGGS—Market poorly supplied and extreme prices are had. We note sales at 50c, but consider 45c a safe quotation for rest of the week.

HAY—Loose sells from wagons at $20@24. Baled in request at $22@24, as to quality.

A WIFE'S TROUBLE.

For a number of years my wife has been troubled with chronic rheumatism, it being in some portion of her body constantly, except, perhaps, in the very warmest weather in summer. Last Christmas she contracted a very severe cold, and a more serious condition of the kidneys became manifest, which subjected her to excessive suffering, as the symptoms of gravel became more prominent, her urine being colored, accompanied by a heavy brick-dust sediment.

After trying several remedies without relief, I procured for her a bottle of Hunt's Remedy, which she commenced taking, and before three days had passed she became much better. She continued using the medicine until she had used six bottles, and now feels cured of both rheumatism and kidney complaint. She believes her present excellent health due solely to the use of Hunt's Remedy.

WILLIAM C. [illegible]

NORWICH, Conn., May 5, 1883.

GRATIFYING RESULTS.

Under date of May 14, Mr. E. A. Thomson, the well known grocer and provision dealer of 78 Green street, New Haven, Conn., writes as follows: "Several weeks since I was taken very ill with kidney disorders, and an examination of my urine showed a very diseased condition of my kidneys, and I had also symptoms of a diseased state of my liver. The passing of my urine was accompanied with severe pains in the small of my back and loins, followed by a burning sensation, and after having stood awhile in the vessel the urine showed a very heavy deposit of sediment similar to ground brick-dust, and, in short, I found that I was in such a diseased condition as to require immediate medical treatment, and as I was anxious to obtain the best and most speedy remedy, I looked and inquired carefully, and became satisfied that Hunt's Remedy was an article of excellent merit, and therefore I concluded to give it a trial, and commenced taking it, and before I had taken one bottle I found such a great improvement that I decided to continue its use, and by taking only two bottles the result has been most gratifying in giving me restored health.

"I have ordered a supply of Hunt's Remedy for my store, and shall in readily receive it for sale, as I consider it an excellent article for diseases of the liver and kidneys."

A STANDARD REMEDY.

J. W. WINDOE, Baker City, Oregon, writes: "I take pleasure in stating that I have handled WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY for the past fifteen years, and I have yet to hear the first to complain of its not giving satisfaction. It is one of the best selling remedies I have on my shelves, and I can conscientiously recommend it to my customers as a standard preparation."

C. A. PLUMMER & CO., Portland, Or., write: "During our six years' experience in the retail drug business in Albany, in this State, we noted the sale of WISTAR'S BALSAM increase from year to year without special advertisement. We have heard many encomiums of its efficiency from our best customers, and believe the sale could be permanently and largely increased by judicious advertising. Its own intrinsic merit will, when once introduced, sustain the sale."

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

IS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL PHYSICIAN ON the Pacific coast in the treatment of all Chronic and Difficult Diseases of the Sexual Organs.

He will guarantee to cure any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease, if the patient follows his advice and treatment.

He has been an expert in the treatment of diseases, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the FOLLIES OF YOUTH, such as Spermatorrhoea, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the chronic diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by a majority of the Medical Profession.

Persons afflicted by any form of sexual disease or weakness often decline calling upon the proper physician at the time, from a sense of modesty, and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their constitutions broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to save them out of their miserable existence. Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances. Lost mind and perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all diseases of the Liver, of the Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail, if they are curable, and if not, he will tell you so.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

"It has been more destructive to human health and life than war, pestilence and famine combined." So said a distinguished writer many years ago, and it is as true to-day as then. The poor victim of Blood Disease is drugged with Mercury to cure the malady, and then dosed with Iodides to cure him of the Mercurial Poisoning; but instead of any relief, the first breaks down his general health and makes him a cripple, and the other ruins his digestive organs. To those afflicted in this way Swift's Specific is the greatest boon on earth, and is worth more than its weight in gold. It antidotes the Mercurial Poison, tones up the system, and brings the sufferer back to health and happiness. Every person who has ever been salivated should by all means take a thorough course of this remedy.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Twiggs Co., Georgia.
Five years ago I found on my plantation a colored man who was badly diseased. He stated that five years before he had contracted a violent case of Blood Poison, and had been treated by many physicians, all failing to cure him. I treated him with Swift's Specific, and in a short time he was sound and well, and has not had a symptom of the disease since.
D. M. HUGHES.

One youth met who had been confined to his bed six weeks with Mercurial Rheumatism has been cured entirely, and speaks in the highest praise of S. S. S. CHILES & BERRY,
Chattanooga, Tenn.

Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps.
As a general beverage, necessary corrective of water rendered impure by vegetable decomposition or other causes, as limestone, sulphate of copper, etc., the AROMATIC SCHNAPPS is superior to every other alcoholic preparation. A public trial of over thirty years' duration in every section of our country, of UDOLPHO WOLFE'S SCHNAPPS, its unsolicited indorsement by the medical faculty, and a sale unequaled by any other alcoholic distillation, have insured for it the reputation for salubrity claimed for it. For sale by all druggists and grocers.

U. S. MARSHAL'S NOTICE.—ADMIRALTY Seizure, Steamship Queen of the Pacific. United States of America, District of Oregon, ss: Whereas a libel has been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the 18th day of October, 1883, by Messrs. Fechheimer and Ach, proctors, on behalf of George Flavel and others, in a cause of salvage, civil and maritime, and praying the usual process and monition of the court that all persons interested in the said vessel, her tackle, apparel and furniture may be cited to answer the premises, and all due proceedings being had, that the same may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to law. Therefore, in pursuance of the said monition, under the seal of said court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give notice generally unto all persons having or pretending to have any right, title or interest therein to appear before the said court at the city of Portland, in said district, on the 3d day of December, 1883, if it be a court day, or else on the next court day thereafter at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, then and there to answer the said libel and to make their allegations in that behalf.

EDWARD S. KEARNEY,
U. S. Marshal for the District of Oregon.
